RAWA RUSKA FALLS BEFORE FORCES OF TEUTONIC ALLIES

Austro-Germans Within Nine Miles of Limits of Lemberg is Claim.

BERLIN IS ASTONISHED

Considerable Activity in the Dardanelles Reported—French Advance.

London, June 21.—Rawa Ruska, according to Berlin, is the latest Russian position in Galicia to fall before the Austro-Germans, and as the Teutons also are reported to be fighting east of this town, the investment of Lemberg must be so nearly complete that the Russians either must withdraw from the Gallian capital or leave a portion of their forces there to be besieged.

The German general, von Mackenzen, is reported to have seized the railway connecting Rawa Ruska with Lemberg, cutting off the retreat northward of the Russians, according to the latest news from the Austrian headquarters, the Teutonic allies are now within nine miles of the limits of Lemberg.

Wonder is expressed by German military critics over this Austro-German advance of the last few days. They had expected the Russians to make a firm stand along the Grodek line. Instead, however, Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief, not only retired quickly from this position, but evidently recognizing his dangerous predicament, also ordered the withdrawal of the Russian forces from south of the Dneister river.

An official Turkish report indicates that there has been considerable activity in the Dardanelles with an allied battleship again battering away at the forts of Seddul Bahr.

In the West Paris continues to report French advances, especially in the region of Arras. Here it is asserted progress has been made in the direction of Souches and the capture of several trenches has brought the attackers near the northwest of the village. Further progress also is reported in the Lorraine district and in the Vosges. Here the French claim an advance beyond the cemetery at Metzeral, the loss of which town is not now officially admitted by Berlin.

England today turned its interest from actual warfare to the provision of sinews of war, the House of Commons having provided the government a blank, the size of which is to be limited only by the patriotism and resources of British investors.

The trial in Africa of General Christian DeWet, the rebel leader, has ended in a verdict proclaiming him guilty of treason. It is not expected, however, that the death sentence will be imposed.

BERLIN IS ASTONISHED.

At the Rapidity of Austro-German Successes—Victory "Complete."

Berlin, June 21, via London.—The rapidity of the Austro-German successes excites astonishment here. It was believed the Russians would check the Allies' advance for some days on the Grodek line, hence the bulletins issued today recorded results far exceeding the expectations of the most optimistic observers.

Special dispatches from the front describe the Russian retreat eastward from Grodek and the Russian resistance from the Tanew river to the mouth of the Weressyca. Air scouts report that the Russians have fallen back on their last line of defences protecting Lemberg, which is nine miles west of the city limits.

The situation at Lemberg is evidently precarious, as General Von Mackenzen today seized the railway between Lemberg and Rawa Ruska, the main line of travel northward. This, it is considered, gives the Russians the alternative of preparing for speedy evacuation or of trying to hold the city, with the risk of being enveloped by Von Mackenzen's army sweeping around southeastward and forming a junction with General Linsingen's forces.

Grand Duke Nicholas, Russian commander-in-chief, apparently has begun to realize the threatening dangers, for he has ordered withdrawal of all Russian forces from the south bank of the Dneister. Military opinion here is that he cannot extricate his huge armies without heavy losses.

The Lokal Anzeiger military expert declares that the victory in Galicia is complete and expresses the opinion that there is little prospect of the Russian troops west of Lemberg longer offering serious resistance.

SOUTH CAROLINA NEGRO WINS

Supreme Court Dismisses Case of Frederick Brown.

Washington, June 21.—The Supreme Court today dismissed for want of jurisdiction the case of Frederick Brown, a negro resisting extradition from Pennsylvania to South Carolina to answer to a homicide charge. Brown contended that as a negro he could not get a fair trial in South Carolina.

Toledo, Ohio, June 21.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and E. S. Bernard, secretary of the Cleveland American Association Baseball club, who met here today to discuss the proposed transfer of the Cleveland team to Toledo, announced tonight that nothing definite had been arrived at.

BLANK CHECK FOR M'KENNA VOTED

WASHINGTON, D. C. Library of Congress

Five Billion D[illegible] for War Purposes [illegible]eeded

IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Before Adjournment House of Commons Gives First Reading to Bill Which Would Untie Hands of Chancellor of Exchequer.

London, June 21.—The House of Commons adjourned tonight after unanimously giving a first reading to a bill providing the new chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, with a blank check which may amount, at a maximum, to five billion dollars.

The vote of credit for $1,250,000,000 passed last week simply authorized the government to spend that much for war purposes, but did not provide for the manner in which it should be raised. Tonight's enactment was in the form of a resolution empowering the government to raise not only the $1,250,000,000 deemed necessary to pay the cost of the war, at the rate of $15,000,000 daily for a limited period, but as much more as may be needed.

The chancellor in a long explanation of the proposed loan said that it would be dangerous to disclose the necessity for not fixing any definite sum. He added that the only figures he could put in the bill was a maximum which would cover all requirements. This maximum would not fall far short of a thousand million pounds sterling.

The new loan which, as now provided for, is of an indefinite amount, will be issued at par, will bear interest at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent, and will be redeemed at the option of the government between 1925 and 1945. The chancellor explained in his speech that he did not say he was asking for this sum, and that he really did not expect to get that amount nor did he really want it. He deemed it advisable, however, to fix an a sum to meet adequately the necessities of the situation.

Although the stock exchange had closed before Mr. McKenna's statement was published, the proposed new loan is said to have met with a favorable reception in the financial districts, but it is not yet possible to say how the terms of the loan will affect other kindred issues, such as consols and last November's war loan.

PROMOTIONS FOR POSTAL CLERKS WILL BE AUTHORIZED

Despite Failure of Congress to Provide Funds.

Washington, June 21.—Yearly promotions for more than 12,000 postal employes in different parts of the country will be authorized by the Postoffice Department July 1, despite the failure of Congress at its last session to pass the postal appropriation bill. First Assistant Postmaster General Roper announced today that an unexpended balance in the funds of his office would be utilized to provide for the promotion of the postmasters, clerks and carriers who under the salary classification law, are entitled to advancement.

San Diego, Cal., June 21.—Under orders from Washington, supplies were loaded today on the navy supply ship Glacier for shipment to Admiral Howard, commander of the Pacific fleet at Guaymas. Several army trucks and a trench digging machine were among the supplies ordered. The Glacier probably will clear tomorrow.

GERMANY'S ANSWER TO NOTE IS BEGUN

First Draft Expected to be Finished by Week-End.

THEN GOES TO KAISER

No Clear Indication of the Probable Nature of the Note is Obtainable—May Be End of Next Week Before Despatched.

Berlin, June 21, (via London, June 22).—Foreign office experts have commenced consideration of the German answer to the American note concerning submarine warfare and the first draft presumably will be finished by the end of the week.

As the reply will be submitted to Emperor William at headquarters after it is threshed out between the departments concerned, it probably will not be ready for termination before the middle or the end of next week.

No clear indication of the probable nature of the note is obtainable. From the emphasis naval writers continue to lay on the alleged British practice of flying neutral flags and encouraging merchantmen to attack submarines and the impossibility of submarines to observe the regulations concerning visitation and search under these conditions, it might be anticipated that this argument would be the kernel of the reply. But at the foreign office there seems to be an impression that this point will appear only as a subordinate part of the reply, if at all, and that an attempt will be made to give a definite answer to President Wilson's requests, one way or another.

Question of Armament.

The alleged armament of the Lusitania probably will not figure prominently in the note. Considerable testimony has been assembled regarding the presence of guns aboard the Lusitania, but it all refers to voyages prior to the one on which the Lusitania was sunk some time after war began.

A German sailor named Emil Grabe deposes in an affidavit published here that he sailed for four years on British ships, including the Lusitania and Mauretania. He avers that he made three trips on the Lusitania and that she, like the Mauretania, carried five or six 12-centimenter guns—two or her after deck, two amidships and one or two forward. Grabe testified that he personally watched naval reservists in the crew of the Lusitania exercising with these guns.

Business Influences for Peace.

Higher business influences continue to be exerted in favor of a peaceful settlement with the United States. A number of industrial and commercial leaders have appeared in Berlin during the last few days to use their influence personally to this end.

OREGON-CALIFORNIA RAILROAD ENJOINED FROM FURTHER SALE

Of Undisposed Portion of its Congressional Grant Land.

Washington, June 21.—The Supreme court today enjoined the Oregon and California Railroad Company from selling the undisposed of portion of its gressional land grant. Sales to actual settlers in 60 acre tracts at $2.50 an acre are permitted under the decision after Congress has had six months in which to enact further legislation on the subject.

The lands involved are valued at more than $30,000,000. The court refused to forfeit the lands to the government for the company's failure to comply with provisions as to price and settlement, and also denied the application of actual settlers who have gone on the lands without permission of the railroad and of applicants for entry, to have the property declared a trust in their behalf.

LEO FRANK BEGINS LIFE SENTENCE AT STATE PRISON FARM

Hurried Secretly From Atlanta Jail to Milledgeville, Under Darkness.

DEMONSTRATION ENSUES

Governor Slaton Issues Long Statement of Reasons for Commutation.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—Leo M. Frank today began serving a life sentence at the Georgia prison farm for the murder of Mary Phagan, the 14-year-old employe of the pencil factory of which he was superintendent. His hurried secret trip by train from the Atlanta jail to Milledgeville was preceded by a few hours by the issuance of a long statement by Governor Slaton giving his reason for commuting the death sentence, which was to have been executed tomorrow, to life imprisonment.

Frank was delivered at the State prison at 4:30 o'clock this morning and soon after extra editions of newspapers announced the fact here. Within a short time crowds began to gather on downtown street corners and within three hours their demonstrations had resulted in calling out two-thirds of the police force and later an order closing all near-beer saloons and clubs where liquor could be obtained. At about noon a crowd conservatively estimated at 2,500 gathered on the capitol grounds and listened to several speakers. The most of the crowd later took charge of the hall of the house of representatives where several speakers said they doubted Frank had been removed from Atlanta.

A commission of five was selected to visit the jail. They reported that Frank was not there. Then Sheriff Mangum, who, with deputies, took the prisoner to Milledgeville, gave the crowd his word he had delivered him there and explained his trip in detail. The crowd, which packed the floor and galleries, then marched to "Five Points," in the center of the business section and later went to city hall.

As this had been the scene of a demonstration early in the day, the police took stern measures. Within a few minutes, the list of arrests had been increased to ten, all charged with failure to "move on."

Mounted officers rode in circles in the crowd separating it into small detachments. Apparently disheartened by such methods the demonstrators gradually dispersed. Early tonight the crowds on the streets appeared quiet.

Governor Hanged in Effigy.

At Marietta, 20 miles from here, the former home of Mary Phagan, Governor Slaton was hanged in effigy. An inscription on the dummy read:

"John Slaton, Georgia's Traitor Governor."

The governor went fully into details of why he commuted the sentence, his 15,000 word statement not being completed until almost noon. He said his decision "may mean that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands.

"All that I ask is that the people of Georgia read my statement of the reasons why I commuted Leo M. Frank's death sentence to life imprisonment, before they pass judgment.

"Feeling as I do about this case, I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang."

The Hurried Journey.

Frank did not know until a few minutes before he started on the trip that he was to leave his cell that night. His heavy distinctive eye glasses were removed which in itself was somewhat of a disguise. The officers, however, placed a slouched hat on him and the few persons at the station at 12:01 A. M., when the train left, did not know the passenger was Frank. He was recognized when the train reached Griffin and at Macon he was reported to be very nervous, needing support of Sheriff Mangum when he was transferred from the coach to a waiting automobile for the last leg of the journey to the farm.

At the prison today Frank changed his demeanor, assuming the outward calm that had marked his two-year fight for life. He again protested his innocence, expressed gratitude to Governor Slaton and said that he had intuitively believed he would at least get a commutation of sentence. He was given number 965, donned a suit denoting the lowest grade prisoner and tonight apparently had begun the routine of prison life.

Governor Slaton's Reasons.

In his statement exhaustively explaining his reasons for commuting Frank's sentence Governor Slaton reviewed the circumstances surrounding the murder of Mary Phagan in the National Pencil Factory on April 26, 1913; the conviction of Frank, and his appeal for clemency.

Continuing, the statement reads:

"The murder was a most heinous one and the offender deserves the punishment of death. The only question is as to the identity of the criminal. The responsibility is upon the people of Georgia to protect the lives of her citizens and to maintain the dignity of her laws and if the choice must be made between the approbation of citizens of other states and the enforcement of our laws against offenders, we must choose the latter alternative.

"It is charged that the court and jury were terrorized by a mob and that the jury were coerced into their verdict. When Frank was indicted and

RUMORS OF PEACE IN MEXICO REVIVE

Definite Movement About to be Inaugurated, is Belief.

GEN. ANGELES ARRIVES

Villa's Principal Military Expert Now in United States—Believed That Even Carranza Leaders Want Peace.

Washington, June 21.—The unexpected arrival in the United States of General Felipe Angeles, General Villa's principal military expert since the split in the Mexican Constitutionalist movement, and reports of friction between General Carranza and his field leader, Obregon, have given rise to persistent rumors that certain elements in the contending factions are about to inaugurate a definite movement to bring about peace in Mexico.

General Angeles, passing through Chicago today en route to Boston, where he will visit his family, denied there had been any break between himself and Villa. This was asserted also by Villa representatives in Washington. Enrique C. Llorente, Villa's special agent and a close personal friend of Angeles, although disclaiming any official knowledge, intimated that Angeles had been commissioned to discuss peac eplans with the Washington government and that some of Carranza's leading supporters, including Obregon and members of the Carranza cabinet whose resignations have been accepted, were cognisant of efforts to be made for a solution of Mexican difficulties.

General Carranza, who thus far has declined to accept Villa's offer for a conference to devise a plan for re-establishment of constitutional government, formally notified his Washington representative today that reports of a break between himself and Obregon were untrue. Notwithstanding this, however, officials here were inclined to the belief that Obregon and other constitutionalist leaders, who thus far have stood by Carranza in his uncompromising attitude, were now ready to talk of peace negotiations.

The resignations of 5 part of the Carranza cabinet were regarded here as particularly significant in view of Carranza's refusal to consider Villa's appeal for a conference. It was reported that friends of General Carranza in the United States had undertaken to dissuade him in his decision to ignore Villa's request for a conference.

Of particular interest to Washington officials was the announcement from London late today that Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, had warned British subjects visiting Mexico unless absolutely obliged to do so. A few hours before news of this reache the United States advices reached the State Department from Mazatlan that Jaqui Indians had raided the town of Mochis and had killed John Jamiston, a British subject.

BRITISH SUBJECTS WARNED

Sir Edward Grey Advises Countrymen to Stay Out of Mexico.

London, June 21.—The official press bureau today issued the following statement:

"In view of the existing state of affairs in Mexico, the secretary of foreign affairs (Sir Edward Grey) desires to warn British subjects against visiting that country unless absolutely obliged to do so by imperative necessity."

Washington, June 21. — In new Yaqui indian depredations in Western Mexico, State Department advices today from Mazatlan, say Yaqui raiders sacked the town of Mochis and killed John Jamiston, a British subject.

CHAUTAUQUA AT SEASIDE IS OPENED

Inspiring Address by Rev. J. E. White, D. D.

AT WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

"Our Greatest Asset" Theme of Eloquent Appeal—Large Attendance From Carolinas—Vocal Music is a Feature.

Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, Atlanta, Ga., delivered an eloquent address at the opening of the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua last night in the Assembly hall of the Oceanic Hotel to an audience of several hundred Baptists from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and other states. Music for the occasion was furnished by the West-Whitlock orchestra, of this city, and there was inspiring vocal music by the audience lead by Dr. Hubert McN. Poteat, professor of Latin at Wake Forest College.

Mr. E. L. Middleton, of Raleigh, secretary of the convention chautauqua committee, was temporary chairman and introduced Dr. White after making the announcement that Dr. White would be heard again this morning and this evening. Owing to the inability of Dr. Prince E. Burroughs, of Birmingham, Ala., to be present, his places on the programme will be filled by Rev. Dr. J. T. Watts, of Richmond, secured since the programme was printed, and Dr. R. W. Spilman, field secretary Sunday School Board Southern Baptist convention, of Kinston. Miss Annie L. Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., will arrive today.

Dr. White Speaks.

Dr. White, himself a Tar Heel, expressed pleasure on being allowed to address a body of North Carolinans, at the opening to this monumental movement that tends toward the development of what is best in our citizenship. He is decidedly an optimist without being too enthusiastic to make himself clear. He began his theme by showing that the great theologians of the past have always looked forward to the "Golden Age" and said that the real golden age is in looking forward —another way of telling of the fine quality of hope. Sin is the cause of all unhappiness, he said, and injuring our fellowmen and fellow creatures is the body of sin. Heaven is a great universal fraternity of all things that have life. It is expressed in the Bible with the words, "The lion shall lie down with the lamb." Gentleness is the greatest motive force in life.

After such a resume as this, Dr. White answered the question as to what is "Our Greatest Asset," by saying "A child." The child is an asset from an economical standpoint, said he and he proceeded to prove it with actual figures. People have from ages past considered it a burden to have children born into the family. Dr. White's figures were something like this: From an economical standpoint, every child born in America, when we strike an average, has left the world $2,900 better off because of his having lived. Using actual division, we find, he says, an eight-pound baby worth $362.

This is true to the community in which the child is born. For instance, real estate is more valuable in New York than in the country, not because of a better grade of dirt, but because more people pass near that dirt each day. The presence of a human being makes the whole country around him more valuable. The birth of a child, like the building of a railroad in a community, increases the land values, although not so noticeable to us because we are so accustomed to it. The lecturer referred to the pied piper who

Declares the Oklahoma Constitutional Amendment is Unconstitutional.

ANNAPOLIS LAW ALSO

Chief Justice White Announces Practically Unanimous Decision.

Washington, June 21. — In probably one of the most important race decisions in its history, the Supreme Court today annulled as unconstitutional the Oklahoma constitutional amendment and the Annapolis, Md., voters' qualification law, restricting the suffrage rights of those who could not vote or whose ancestors could not vote prior to the ratification of the 15th amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Chief Justice White, a native of the South, and a former Confederate soldier, announced the court's decision, which was unanimous, except that Justice McReynolds took no part in the case.

By holding that conditions that existed before the Fifteenth amendment, which provides that the right to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, could not be brought over to the present day in disregard of this self-executing amendment, it is generally believed that the court went a long way toward invalidating much of the so-called "Grandfather clause" legislation of Southern States.

The immediate effect of the court's decision was to uphold the conviction of two Oklahoma election officials who denied negroes the right to vote in a congressional election, and to award three Maryland negroes damages from election officials in Annapolis who refused to register them. The court held that these election officials could not ignore the potency of the Fifteenth amendment in wiping out of state constitutions the word "white" as a qualification for voting. In the Maryland case the court's decision established the point that the Fifteenth amendment applies alike to municipal as well as to Federal elections.

The Oklahoma Cases.

Discussing the Oklahoma cases, Chief Justice White said the suffrage amendment to the State constitution first fixed a literacy standard and then followed it with a provision creating a standard based upon the condition existing on January 1, 1866, prior to the adoption of the Fifteenth amendment, and eliminated those coming under that standard from the inslusion in the literacy test.

The court had difficulty, he said, in finding words to more clearly demonstrate its conviction that this action of the state recreated and perpetuated the very conditions which the Fifteenth amendment was intended to destroy, than the language used in the amendment.

"It is true," continued the Chief Justice, "that it contains no express words of an exclusion from the standard which it establishes of any person on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, prohibited by the Fifteenth amendment, but the standard itself inherently brings that result int existence since it is based purely upon a period of time before the enactment of the Fifteenth amendment and makes that period the controlling and dominant test of the right of suffrage.

"In other words, we seek in vain for any ground which would sustain any other interpretation but that the provision recurring to the conditions existing before the Fifteenth amendment was adopted and the continuance of which the Fifteenth amendment prohibited, proposed by, in substance and effect, lifting those conditions over a period of time after the amendment to make them the basis of the right to suffrage conferred in direct and positive disregard for the Fifteenth amendment. And the same result, we are of the opinion, demonstrated by considering whether it is possible to discover any basis of reason for the standard thus fixed other than the purpose advocated.

"We say this because we are unable to discover how, unless the prohibitions of the Fifteenth amendment were considered, the slightest reason was afforded for basing the classification upon a period of time prior to the Fifteenth amendment. Certainly it cannot be said that there was any peculiar necromancy in the time named which engender attributes affecting the qualification to vote which would not exist at another and different period unless the Fifteenth amendment was in view."

The Chief Justice had prefaced this statement by a development of the argument that the restriction imposed by the Fifteenth amendment on the power of the states over suffrage was coincident with the limits of the power itself. He also set forth the principle that while in the true sense the Fifteenth amendment gives no "right" of suffrage, "it was long ago recognized that in operation its prohibition might measurably have that effect; that is to say, that as the command of the amendment was self-executing and reached without legislative action the conditions of discrimination against which it was aimed, the result might arise that as a consequence of the striking down of a discriminating clause a right of suffrage would be enjoyed by

FOUR COMPANIES OF TROOPS GUARDING GOVERNOR'S HOME

Georgia Chief Executive Proclaims Martial Law Within Half Mile of His House and Instructs National Guard to Disperse Mob of Seven Hundred Men and Boys From in Front of His Estate, Near Capital.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21.—With several hundred men and boys clamoring to enter his front gate, which had been barricaded, and threatening to overpower 20 county policemen, Governor Slaton called upon the militia late tonight to protect his home. Upon arrival of four companies of militia who had been held under arms and rushed to the governor's country home in automobiles, he proclaimed martial law in a district extending half a mile in front of his home, half a mile back and for a distance of about a quarter of a mile on either side.

When the soldiers lined up with fixed bayonets to disperse the crowd, stones, bricks and bottles were thrown at them. A brick struck Lieut. Arnold Parker and rendered him unconscious for a short time. The commanding officer, Major Catron, was struck by a stone, as were several of the men.

The governor proclaimed martial law at exactly 11 o'clock and by midnight the crowd had practically been dispersed. There was no firing.

Trouble at Milledgeville Feared.

A telephone message from Milledgeville, where the state prison is located and where Frank was taken after the governor commuted his sentence, said that trouble was feared theme tonight and asked that the governor order out the Milledgeville company of militia.

The governor told his informant that such a request would have to come from the sheriff of Baldwin county. At midnight the sheriff had not requested troops.

The governor was surrounded in his home by about a dozen friends, nearly every one of whom was armed with a rifle or pistol. The unexpected arrival of a member of the family at a dark corner of the front porch caused the governor himself to hastily pick up a large pistol.

In front of the governor's house were more than 100 automobiles filled with persons evidently there to see what the crowd would do. The troops had great difficulty in clearing the road of these machines and many of their orders were met with the retort of "Shoot!"

Newnan, Ga., June 21.—Governor Slaton and Leo M. Frank were hanged in effigy here tonight. Later the images were cut down and set on fire and attached by ropes to automobiles were dragged blazing through the streets.

LANSING TO BE GIVEN PLACE IN THE CABINET

President Has Virtually Decided Upon His Appointment.

To Succeed William J. Bryan as Secretary of State—Several Cabinet Members Known to Favor Him—Announcement.

Washington, June 21.—President Wilson was understood tonight to have virtually decided on Robert Lansing as Secretary of State to succeed William Jennings Bryan. It was said in well informed quarters that it was almost a certainty that Mr. Lansing—counsellor and secretary ad interim of the State Department—would be given the portfolio.

Mr. Lansing will be in New York tomorrow and it is expected that the election of the secretary of state will be discussed at the cabinet meeting. Several cabinet members are known to favor Mr. Lansing.

The President plans to leave here Wednesday night for New York, where he will spend Thursday with Colonel E. M. House, before going to the "Summer White House" at Cornish, N. H. It has been considered likely that he would discuss the question of Mr. Bryan's successor with Colonel House before making an announcement, but tonight there was said to be a possibility that the appointment might be made tomorrow.

MISUSE OF AMERICAN FLAG TO BE TAKEN UP

Further Representations to be Made to Britain.

These Representations to Be Probably Included in New Note to Great Britain on Interruption to Commerce.

Washington, June 21.—Further representations are to be made to Great Britain by the United States on misuse of the American flag by British merchant ships. State Department officials today indicated that these representations would be included in the new note to Great Britain, now being prepared—relating to interruption to neutral commerce.

The London foreign office, it was declared, had been advised from time to time of several complaints that British steamers had displayed the American flag, but the subject now will be somewhat to progress of the negotiadealt with generally. Just when the communication will be sent has not been determined and is dependent tion with Germany relating to submarine warfare.

Germany's recent claim that the submarine U-29 was rammed and sunk by a British steamer flying the Swedish flag, it is declared, has not been officially called to the attention of the United States but there is no attempt to deny that misuse of neutral flags by enemies of Germany might tend to complicate the issue between Washington and the Imperial German government on regulation of submarine activities.

In the first game the home team scored four runs in the fifth inning on one hit, a double by Walsh, and in the second inning of the closing event secured only two singles and yet tallied five runners.

In the eighth inning of the opener, Manager Mack sent in four pinch hitters and when the ninth inning started his line-up was almost completely changed, Lapp and McInnis being the only players to remain in their position. This game was won in the 10th on McInnis' single, Keating's wild throw on Davies' bunt, and Keating's wild pitch.

ROCKY MOUNT DEFEATS THE PETERSBURG NUTS.

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 21.—Today's defeat of the Petersburg Nuts was a great object lesson of how a pitcher can work himself out of a hole without being scored against and the Tar Heel flinger, Mickie O'Brien, was the demonstrator, and for the first six innings second base was filled against him before there was a man retired, yet the fellow came through without being scored against. On the other hand, six of the Down Homers connected hits off Pooray and each of the three counted for a run, while the third tally came from Gray's drive that mounted the fence and was away. Edwards, at first for the Tar Heels, brought the stands to their feet with a great one-hand stab that cut off two runs had the ball gone to the outfield.

THEATRICAL

Truly believing that "variety is the spice of life," the Victoria Theatre is this week presenting a well known stock company, which will delight amusement-lovers with a repertoire of well known dramas and comedies, staged with special scenery and presented by a fine cast.

The attraction this week is the well known and very popular Demorest Stock Company and the attraction inaugurated its engagement last night, playing to a large audience. It was really a triple performance amusement-lovers had the pleasure of beholding, as besides the drama, "Just Plain Folks," there was a fine vaudeville offering and some swell movies.

"Just Plain Folks" proved one of the most charming plays, and the Demorest Company gave a fine presentation of it, as well as offering something swell in the way of a production, staging the play with special scenery. Miss Ono Demorest, a clever young actress, appeared in the role of "Rose Baxter" and made a big hit, while John Burns, a young actor of ability, portrayed the role of "Jack Henderson," one of the leads. Another bright particular star of the performance was Bob Demorest, an exceptionally clever comedian, who kept folks convulsed in the role of "Jethro Baxter."

The vaudeville was extra swell, being offered between acts, so as to save waits. Charming Beatrice LeRoy made a hit in songs and dances, while a singing and whistling sketch presented by Richard Lloyd was decidedly clever. Bob Demorest immensely delighted with songs and buck dancing and then came Little Bob, just the cutest and cleverest bit of humanity that ever doddled behind the footlights.

This afternoon at matinee and again tonight the company will be seen in this great performance, and tomorrow night will change the play, offering "Rena Rivers." The prices for matinee is 5 cents for children and 10 cents for adults. Night prices, 10 and 20 cents.

At the Grand.

And still the comedies come. Yesterday the Grand presented two of the greatest comedians of the day, Chaplin and "Billie Reeves" and to say that Reeves made good on his first screen appearance is putting it mildly—and now today comes Syd Chaplin, in a Keystone comedy, "Gussel's Wayward Path," in which some novel innovations have been introduced and you should see Syd's wife hang him on a hall tree for being bad. It is a chuckle and a roar.

The story of "In the Days of Famine" is one that seems never to grow old that of the "Guardian" and the girl he brings up at the cost of much personal sacrifice only to feel in the end he must give her to a man nearer her own age. The characters of Jan and Jean are beautifully interpreted by James Morrison and Dorothy Kelly and are made doubly interesting through the personality of the actors.

Broadway Success at the Bijou.

One of the greatest Broadway legitimate stage successes of the year, was "The Spitfire," by Mollie Elliott Seawell. The Universal scored a master stroke when they obtained the rights to picturize this play, and the Bijou presents it today, a three-reel throbbing drama entitled, "The Heart of Cerise," featuring Pauline Bush, than whom there is no greater portrayer of the strong emotional drama on the screen today, supported by William Clifford and Sa, DeGrasse.

It's a great story of pathos, love, jealousy and revenge, which leads us into the heart of a small French dramatic company. Cerise is betrothed to the leading man, but through a series of misunderstandings, they are parted. The story ends with a happy reconciliation which will please everybody, an dmake them feel that they have really witnessed one of the feature photoplays of the year. It has been condensed into three reels, simply because it is the motto of Universal to never pad any picture. Otherwise, it would be equal in length to an yof the high-priced feature productions, and would cost you feature prices to see.

"When They Were Co-Eds" is a rousing Nestor scream with that popular bunch, Eddie Lyons, Victoria Forde and Lee Moran playing as leading fun makers. Then there's another one of those great Heinie and Louie comedy features, "Touch Luck."

SUPREME COURT REVERSES ACTION OF A WEEK AGO

Decides to Review Conviction of F. Drew Caminetti.

Washington, June 21.—Reversing its own action of a week ago, the Supreme Court today decided to review the conviction of F. Drew Caminetti, of San Francisco, facing prison sentence for violation of the white slave law. At the same time it agreed to review the conviction of Maury I. Diggs convicted with Caminetti in the sensational cases which attracted country-wide attention two years ago.

The cases will be the first in which the Supreme Court has reviewed a white slave law prosecutions where it was contended that the law did not apply to prosecutions which failed to show evidence of the element of commercialized vice.

Caminetti, son of the commissioner general of immigration, faced a fine of $1,500 and 18 months in San Quentin. Diggs, formerly architect for the State of California, was fined $2,000 and sentenced to two years in prison.

Attention was focussed on the cases when John L. McNab, United States attorney at San Francisco resigned and in an open letter to President Wilson charged the political influence was being brought to bear to Attorney General McReynolds to keep the cases from trials. In the controversy which followed Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, and the immigration commissioner's chief figured. President Wilson closed the incident by appointing a special prosecutor.

TIGERS DEFEAT GIANTS IN NINTH INNING BATTING RALLY

Toledo, O., June 21.—A ninth inning batting rally gave an exhibition game between the New York Nationals and Detroit American League team to Detroit by a score of 4 to 3. Cobb proved the star, getting two hits out of three times up and scoring the tieing run besides running wild on the paths. Cobb faced Mathewson for the first time in his life. He singled past second on the first ball pitched, then stole second standing up. The New York veteran only smiled. Cobb went to third on a hit and was caught at the plate trying to beat a throw.

HIGH PRICES KILLED Beware of Cheap Prices

The General says:

When we entered the field the price of good roofing was too high. With our big mills, enormous output and modern selling methods we can sell the best roofing at a reasonable price. This has been done to such a great extent that high prices have been killed. Now you get the highest quality at a reasonable price when you buy

Certain-teed Roofing

But there is another great danger. Unknown goods with unknown brands and unknown qualities are being offered at prices that are too cheap for safety. It's a long, long chance you take when you buy these cheap goods. Avoid extremes of cheap prices as well as high prices. Know that the company whose name appears on the goods has the ability to make a good quality roofing at a reasonable price, and that it is guaranteed by them to be the best roofing possible to make; that the company does not sell anything at a higher price, and that the price at which it is offered to you is a reasonable but not a cheap price.

Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to whether the thickness is 1, 2 or 3 ply respectively, and remember this guarantee is backed by the largest mills in the roofing and building paper industry.

GOVERNMENT WINS LACKAWANNA CASE

Victory in Fight to Break Up "Hard Coal Trust."

CONTRACT IS ANNULLED

Railroad's Contract With Its Own Coal Company in Violation of Sherman and Hepburn Laws, Says Supreme Court.

Washington, June 21.—A contract by which the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company sold in 1909 the annual output of seven million tons from its anthracite coal mines to the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company, which it had just organized, was annulled today by the Supreme Court as a violation both of the commodities clause of the Hepburn rate law and of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The decision directed the New Jersey Federal District court to enjoin the railroad from transporting coal under the provisions of the contract. The court preserved to the government a right to proceed in a new suit against the railroad to test the railroad's right to purchase coal for sale.

The decision was hailed by government officials as a great victory, likely to have an important bearing on the fight waged for years to break up the so-called "hard coal trust."

The mere organization of the coal company by the railway was not disapproved, Justice Lamar who announced the decision saying that it was natural, if not necessary, after the passage of the commodities clause law for the road to organize a corporation to supply coal which the public demanded. He said it was not illegal for stockholders of the railroad to take stock in the coal company, but added that where two companies, one of which was organized by another with common stockholders as a rule and officers of one to a large degree officers of the other, made contracts which affected the interest of minority stockholders, or of third persons, or of the public, the fact of their unity of management had to be considered in testing the good faith of the transaction.

The Terms of Contract.

The contract of 1909, the justice pointed out, provided that the railroad company would sell and the coal company buy all the coal mined during the continuance of the contract by the railroad and prevented the coal company from buying from any other source. The justice said that this in effect prevented the coal company from becoming a competitor of the railroad in purchasing coal from other mines along the railroad.

Justice Lamar said it was even more significant that the railroad company required the coal company to sell to "present railroad customers" 'at old prices, even at a loss, and to do nothing against the interest of the railroad.

"The railroad," said Justice Lamar, "if it continues in the business of mining, must absolutely disassociate itself from the coal before the transportaton begins. It cannot retain the title nor can it sell through an agent. It must leave the buyer free. It cannot call that agent a buyer while so hampering and restricting such alleged buyer as to make him a puppet subject to the control of the railroad company. If the railroad sells coal at the mouth of the mines to one buyer or to many it must not also with all control over it or over those to whom the coal is sold at the mines. It must leave the buyer as free as any other buyer who pays for what he has bought.

Goldsboro, N. C., June 21.—Friends in this city and throughout this State and Virginia, will regret to learn of the death of Mr. F. W. Tatem, who was found dead in his room at the Arlington hotel early this morning, his death resulting from heart trouble, which he has been afflicted with for a number of years. The body was taken in charge by the Goldsboro Undertaking Company and prepared for shipment to Berkley, Va., his native home, where deceased had prominent family connections.

Mr. Tatem had never married, and was about 50 years of age.

the air was filled with rumors as to the murder and mutilation of the girl there was intense feeling, and to such an extent that my predecessor, Governor Brown, stated in argument before me that he had the militia ready to protect the defendant if any attack was made. Some weeks later the defendant was put on trial."

Asked No Change of Venue.

The Governor then referred to Georgia's laws relating to change of venue, declaring these provisions most broad in behalf of the defendant to insure one a fair trial. Frank, he said, went to trial without asking a change of venue and submittd his case to a jury that was acceptable to him.

"During the progress of the trial," he continued, "after evidence had been introduced laying the crime with many offensive details upon Frank, the feeling against him became intense. If the audience in the court room manifested their deep resentment toward Frank, it was largely by this evidence of feeling beyond the court's power to correct. It would be difficult for an appellate court or a trial court to grant a new trial in such a long case because the audience in the court room on a few occasions indicated their sympathies. The jury found the defendant guilty and with exception of the demonstration outside the court room there was no disorder. Nothing was done which the courts could correct through legal machinery."

Reviews the Evidence.

The Governor said the United States Supreme Court had sustained this ruling. He declared the charge against the State of Georgia of racial prejudice is unfair. He then reviewed the evidence. He asserted the state proved that Frank was in his office at the factory a little after 12 o'clock the day of the murder and that he admitted paying Mary Phagan wages due her. So far as known, he says, Frank was the last person who saw her alive. Other facts, enumerated by the Governor, as to him the more important of those shown by the State, were:

That Frank at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder, allowed the negro watchman, Newt Lee, to leave the factory for two hours; that the same evening Frank called Lee on the telephone; that Le efound the double inner doors locked, all of which things he had never done before; that cord similar to that with which the girl was strangled was found in quantities on the metal room floor and less quantities in the basement where the body was discovered. He also included the testimony of Miss Monteen Stover, that when she was in Frank's office, about the time the State contended Frank and the Phagan girl were in the metal room, Frank was not in his office, although he had declared he had not left the office.

"The most startling and spectacular testimony in the case was that given by a negro, Jim Conley, who frequently had been on the chaingang," the statement says. He then referred to the "murder notes" found beside the body, which Conley finally admitted he had written at Frank's dictation. "Conley claimed Frank asked him to come to the factory on Saturday and watch for him as he had done, which he explained meant that Frank expected to meet some woman," the Governor says.

"Conley occupied a dark place beside the elevator behind some boxes. Conley mentioned several male and female employes who went up the steps to the second floor where Frank's office was. He said Mary Phagan went up the stairs, that in a few minutes he heard footsteps going toward the metal room; that he heard a scream and then dosed. In a few minutes Frank stamped and Conley locked the door and then Frank was shivering and trembling and told him he made advances to the girl and she repulsed him and he struck her too hard and she fell and hit her head against something and he didn't know how badly she was hurt. Conley said he found the girl in the metal roo mwith a cloth tied about her neck as though to catch blood, although there was no blood at the place.

"According to Conley's story, Frank told him to get a piece of cloth and wrap the body in it and Conley got a piece of bed ticking and tied up the body, carried it to near the dressing room, dropped it and called on Frank to assist him. He said that he and Frank took the body to the basement in the elevator; that they rolled the body out of the cloth, then went to Frank's office; that Edna Clark and Corinthia Hall came into the office and Frank put him in the wardrobe and after they left that Frank dictated the murder notes."

Alleged Inconsistencies.

The statement then points out alleged inconsistencies in Conley's story and mentions several contradictions in his story as related in various affidavits. Among them, he said, were evidence that the elevator had not been used Saturday afternoon; that Frank could not hav ecarried the girl down the hatchway while Conley, a powerful negro, could have done so; that no bed ticking ever had been seen in the factory; that it was agreed the murder could not have been committed before 12:05 p. m., and yet Conley has Emma Clark and Corinthia Hall in Frank's office after the body had been disposed of while unimpeached testimony showed that they reached the factory at 11:35 and left at 11:45 a. m.

The Governor pointed out similarities in forms of expression and words used by Conley in his testimony in the "murder notes" and in the "Annie Maud Carter letters," parts of which Conley admitted he wrote. He inferred that the evidence indicated the notes were the produce of Conley's mental as physical effort. Testimony of other witnesses than Conley concerning the time of Mary Phagan's visit to the factory and regarding the order blank pad on which one of the "murder notes" was written having been discarded to the basement, was discussed at length in the statement.

In conclusion the Governor said:

"In the Frank case three matters have developed since the trial which did not come before the jury, to wit: The Carter letters; the testimony of Becker, indicating that the notes were written in the basement and th etestimony of Dr. Harris that he was under the impression that the hair on the lathe in the metal room was not that of Mary Phagan and thus tending to sho what the crime was not committed on the floor on which was Frank's office.

"While made the subject of an extraordinary motion for a new trial, it is well known that it is almost a practical impossibility to have a verdict set aside by this procedure. The evidence might not have changed the verdict with the recommendation to mercy.

Matter of Conscience.

"In any event, the performance of my duty under the examination is a matter of conscience. The responsibility rests where the power is reposed. Judge Roan with that awful sense of responsibility which probably came over him as he thought of that judge

Do YOU Know What the Drug User Faces?

Your will power may be strong —but it's weak in fighting the desire for drugs. Stronger wills than yours have found this true—that once the addiction is formed it drives the victim step by step towards moral and physical breakdown. Attempts to break it off generally result in intense suffering and the drug user finds he cannot stop.

But the drug addiction can be cured! Four to six weeks of the Keeley Treatment as given at Greensboro, N. C., will destroy the desire and necessity for heroin, morphine, cocaine, opium or other drugs—and without any confinement, sickness or humiliation. And at Greensboro it is not a mere Treatment—there is an individuality behind the Treatment that is responsible in a large measure for restoring new ideals and rekindling the desire on the part of the patient to take his—or her—proper place in the world.

The Greensboro institution has been successful in curing over 10,000 men and women of the drink and drug addictions, men and women whose future seemed hopeless. Read the experience of David Barnes, a prominent tobacco buyer, of Reidsville, N. C.:

"I began to take morphine to relieve pain; the habit grew insidiously, and for ten years I fought against it in vain—my struggles only making easier my descent into the indescribable tortures of an opium hell. I entered the Greensboro Keeley Institute 20 years ago a mental and physical wreck, hoping merely that my life might be prolonged for a short while. But I was cured—the unbearable craving for the drug had gone; it has never returned. Keeley has made me into a new man."

Are you—or is anyone near and dear to you—addicted to the use of drugs? Write us in confidence. Let us advise you.

TOP O' THE MORNING

Not one
Can strike a truer chord in life,
And not lead others to more true accord
With all of life.

—MARGARET A. RICHARD.

Who fights your wars, anyhow?

Don't tell what you are going to do. Do it and then tell it.

Some day of days we'll understand why we do not fully understand.

We often stand in our own way and doggedly refuse to let ourselves pass on with the forward looking men.

How long has it been since man even thought he was the head of the house instead of being the commissary?

Roosevelt and Taft should make friends. We hate to see any of President Wilson's supporters at outs. In union there is strength.

We are in favor of being prepared so we can resist all attacks made on us on account of the kind of neutrality we thought we were indulging in.

While folks up the State were sweltering and perspiring yesterday, how delightfully cooling and refreshing and invigorating were the breezes down here—at the beach!

Colonel Bryan invaded New York Saturday night. New York is always glad when Colonel Bryan looks the town over and then decides to let the gunmen keep on having it.

When all men are for peace and keep the peace, we can discharge the police force. Along about that time it may be necessary to do away with armies and navies. Till then we will have to be prudent.

How far behind is a community which will organize a mossback brigade to put up a serious fight for something that was the laughing stock of other communities which woke up after it had been discovered that Rip Van Winkle had waked up and was on his rounds again!

Servia decided to let Italy do the fighting while she would send her troops into Albania to keep it from entering into a conspiracy to keep from being gobbled up. Servia has been advised by the entente powers not to fool herself by taking a violent fancy to even a little bit of Albania.

The magazines are trying to make New York believe that some day it will be captured and every cent of its money will be taken away from it by a one-eyed cyclops who takes up collections for the man in the moon. New York will greatly surprise some of her Oshkosh visitors if she does not see the cyclops first and sell him a loaded cigar.

No recent act of a governor of any state has met with such universal approval on the part of the American people as the action of Governor Slaton in deciding to commute the death sentence of Leo Frank. The American people are not willing to see a man hanged because he is believed to be guilty or because circumstances point to his guilt. They want to know that he is guilty or want to find somebody who does know he is guilty before they are willing that his life be taken.

War is working right along in the heads of everybody, writers of books and all. Among the new books with warish titles are "The Maid at Arms," "The Fighting Chance," "The Firing Line," "The Danger Mark," "Who Goes There?" etc. These are romances, possibly with plots and action almost as exhilerating as those of "Lucile Love," "The Perils of Pauline, "The Master Key," "The Black Mox," and "The Clutching Hand." There is bound to be a warlike climax to all romances, for the heroes finally capitulate to the heroines. Every man is crazy about making an unconditional surrender to some ice-cream consumer.

LAY OF THE LAND POLITICALLY.

One year from now there will be something doing in North Carolina politics. At that time we will be in the midst of the probably warm campaign that will precede the first State-wide legalized primary to be held in this State, in which all candidates for congressional, State and judicial offices will be nominated at the ballot box by all political parties on the same day. In about half the counties of the State nominations for county officers will be made under the same primary, while in about half the counties the adoption of the legalized primary in the nomination of county officers is left optional with the people.

Already considerable activity is in evidence. Candidates for a number of the State offices have announced themselves and others are being groomed or are grooming themselves. Thus far, most of the activity has been directed towards persuading somebody to offer himself for the nomination for governor. Several names have been "prominently mentioned", including Mr. E. Carl Duncan and Mr. Zeb Vance Walser, but neither has publicly consented to throw his hat into the ring. It is a fact that among the Democrats the nominations are being sought by men, while among the Republicans men are being sought for the nominations—not for the offices. If the stake were offices instead of nominations, the situation would be different.

Democratic entrants for the gubernatorial race number only two thus far, notwithstanding the fact that a few months ago there seemed to be a probability that the "woods" would be full of candidates. Only Attorney General Bickett and Lieutenant Governor Daughtridge have entered the list of avowed candidates, and it begins to look like the fight may be confined to a contest between these two valiant and stalwart Democrats, both of whom have heretofore been honored by election to State offices. An interesting late development in the gubernatorial contest is the fact that staunch Simmons supporters are lining up with Bickett, contrary to the impression of a few weeks ago that Daughtridge was to be the Simmons candidate and that the Simmons forces would probably rally around the standard of the Edgecombe farmer and business man. It really begins to look like the old lines of cleavage are to be wiped out. It is too early yet for any one to say with certainty. This much can be said, however—with only Bickett and Daughtridge in the race, neither is going to have a complete walk-over. Both men will assume the proportions of political giants before the contest closes, unless some unforeseen factor breaks into the calculation.

Two Democrats also have announced their candidacy for the nomination for lieutenant governor, the most important duty of which office is that of president of the Senate. Senator O. Max Gardner, of Shelby, was first to throw his hat into the ring. This he did some months ago. Recently ex-Senator H. Neill Pharr, of Charlotte, announced his entry into the race with the determination to fight to the finish and to win. Both of these gentlemen have served as president pro tem. of the Senate, which means that they have had experience in the most important duty devolving upon a lieutenant governor. The place of presiding officer of the Senate, like that of speaker of the House, is of vastly more importance than the average voter supposes. The influence these officers exert in shaping legislation, by their appointment of all committees and by their general attitude toward proposed legislation, is probably the greatest single factor in the work of any legislature. While both Pharr and Gardner are from the center of the cotton milling industry and of the hydro-electric power development of the South Atlantic States, Pharr is recognized as an ultra-conservative in legislation, while Gardner, young and stalwart, possesses many of the elements of a progressive, though far from radical. Both have exerted great influence in the Senate. Both are lawyers.

Next to the gubernatorial race, greatest interest perhaps centers in the contest for the nomination for attorney general. Several months ago Judge Frank Carter announced his candidacy, appealing to the people for support as a vindication for the wrong he conceives to have been done him in the famous Carter-Abernethy sensation and the subsequent investigation. There has been considerable talk of Collector Josiah William Bailey as a probable candidate for attorney general. However, the latest report in this connection is to the effect that the brilliant and dashing former editor, who quit the tripod for the bar, will not be in the race, for several reasons, one of which is the fact that he could not get the solid support of his own county of Wake. That is considered a prerequisite to a nomination for a State office, but it is what probably no citizen of Wake county could get for any office. Wake county has been split and torn asunder for years with petty political strife and the man has not yet appeared who is able to unite the Democrats of that county on any man or measure.

The Charlotte Observer a day or two ago intimated that an announcement might be expected any day from former lieutenant governor R. A. Doughton, of Alleghany, who has been for some time listed as a probable candidate for attorney general. He is at present a member of the House of Representatives, having been a member of one house or the other almost every session for the last 20 years. There seems to be a general impression that if Doughton only says the word with any degree of positiveness, the nomination is his. There is no doubt that Doughton is popular throughout the State; he has stalwart friends in practically every county; there is no question as to his eminent qualification for the duties of the office; he is a man of great ability and marked judicial temperament, and withal "safe, sane and conservative" enough to suit the most exacting. However, he is not an office chaser, and until he says the word there is no sort of certainty that anybody will have the chance to vote for him.

As to the other State offices, there has been little activity thus far, except with reference to that of secretary of State. It is already understood that Col. J. Bryan Grimes is to have opposition. At least one announcement to this effect has been made, we believe. Editor Fred R. Mintz, of the Mount Olive Tribune, is in the race for commissioner of labor and printing against M. L. Shipman, who has wiped aside all talk of his probable candidacy for Congress from the Tenth district. He points to Governor Craig as the one man who can certainly redeem the Tenth district, and considerable pressure is being brought to bear upon the Governor, it is understood, to get his consent to run in his home district, which is the only one besides the Sixth where any noticeable activity has developed. In the Sixth, as usual, there are plenty of candidates and prospects of a "bloody battle."

This gives a fairly complete birdseye view of the political situation in North Carolina as it has developed above the surface to date. We have not attempted to deal with the under-currents.

AMMUNITION NOT LACKING.

An expert in Europe declares there is no shortage of ammunition among the Allies and that only in localities where supplies fail to reach the line in time has there been any difficulty on that score. It has been reported that Russia is short of ammunition supplies, but that also is denied.

The Allies have bought immense quantities of ammunition in the United States. Some authorities, says the New York Journal of Commerce, estimate that orders to the extent of nearly a billion dollars have been placed in this country. It is said that of these orders, the shipments already made are valued at $200,000,000, and that much of the balance will be shipped every week for the next six months. The munitions exports of this country are growing larger all the time, and especially has shrapnel shipments recently increased more than 200 per cent. The larger and many of the smaller iron foundries all over the country have shrapnel orders by the thousands.

Europe's gold is coming here by the hundreds of millions of dollars, to such an extent indeed as to be causing American financiers no end of worry. They would rather see this country getting Europe's goods, so the money could stay over there and enable the European countries to exchange commodities with us. Trade of that sort is much more desirable than to have it so top-heavy on our side. In addition to the munitions contracts, the Journal of Commerce says:

"Heavy orders for railroad equipment running into many millions for Russia and France are also a feature. In our foreign trade the effect of these orders is almost sensational. The war obliges Europe to sell us less and buy more, the result being an embarrassing excess of exports, an undesirable influx of gold, the demoralization of sterling exchange and a situation that may become still more perplexing when munitions and crop exports reach their maximum in the latter half of the year. The present situation is altogether unprecedented, and calls for skilful treatment. Great Britain, the chief buyer, is abundantly able to meet all her obligations. But she cannot pay us in goods; we do not want her gold, having more than is convenient now; and she will not sell American securities, which we would gladly buy at a price. New York is now the only free money market of importance in the world, and British bankers could easily secure ample credit here if they desired. Doubtless some satisfactory solution of the problem will be worked out by international bankers, or the British Government; and whether an effort will be made to secure part settlement, by finding a market here for a portion of the impending British loan, remains to be seen. American investors have not hitherto been eager for foreign government securities, though it is safe to say a British loan would be more likely to receive favor than any other."

Of course, the money coming from Europe to this country becomes ours, so that when it comes in such excess as to be useless, it has to be stored away in vaults where it is dead capital. It can draw no interest, and the strange fact is that there is more profit and more satisfaction when there is mutual buying and selling. Money that is not moving is a big load to carry, and no banker wants more than is necessary for business. That is strange but true.

TEACHING OF RELIGION BARRED.

American missionaries are again stirred up because the Japanese government has barred the teaching of religion in the schools of Korea, which "give a general education." The order promulgated gives ten years for schools to discontinue teaching any kind of religion while the matter of education is going on.

The order, it is said, affects a large number of American missionary schools which have been established in Korea for many years. The Japanese even bar the Shinto religion, the official religion of Japan, and give as the reason that "the experience of the United States and France has demonstrated the wisdom of separating education and religion."

Probably it will be discovered that the Japanese order refers only to government supported public schools and not to the missionary schools. It seems, however, that if free education is given, religion must not be thrown in.

In the United States the teaching of religion is barred from the public schools, but each denomination has its own schools, colleges and universities where each teaches its individual doctrines along with the educational courses.

CHARLESTON'S COAL TERMINALS.

The Charleston News and Courier of yesterday rejoices that the Southern Railway's coal terminals on Cooper river are nearing completion and that soon Charleston is to become a coal-handling port. The superstructure of the coal plant towers a hundred feet over the surrounding marshes, and the present expectation is that within the next six weeks the huge machinery will be pouring coal into the holds of ships at the rate of 3,000 tons an hour.

The Southern controls several hundred acres of land at the terminals and will be prepared to enlarge its coal handling plant whenever it becomes necessary. At present the machinery has guaranteed capacity for delivering 30 carloads of coal per hour directly into the holds of vessels. Two large steamers can be coaled at one time and there are other slips for steamships waiting for coal.

At present there is no need of coal storage, as there is a large track yard on which hundreds of loaded cars can stand, ready to be handled at any time by running them on to the elevated tracks of the chutes. One track accommodates loaded cars and the other is to carry the empty cars back to the yards. The terminals are equipped with the most improved car-dumping apparatus, and all the machinery will be operated by electricity.

By the first of August, Charleston will be ready to coal ships for voyages or load them for export. At present Europe requires a considerable quantity of coal from this country, but in South and Central America there is always a large demand to supply.

The coal terminals at Charleston will greatly facilitate the ocean carrying business at our South Atlantic ports. It will save considerable delay heretofore caused to ships in having to go out of their way to coal.

Col. Wade H. Harris, editor of the Charlotte Observer, was a visitor in Wilmington a few hours yesterday. He was on his way to Southport, where he will probably spend several days. It is safe to say that after he has been there a few days somebody, even some of the natives, will know things about Southport they didn't know before. Editor Harris can pick up interesting facts that have been trampled over and unobserved by thousands of other folks.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Wilmington Star gives one the idea that it has an appetite by its remark that: "Of course, we don't expect a thing if we should go to war, but we are satisfied some of them would give us a piece of Turkey if we would only hurry and go to the front of the front."—Raleigh News and Observer.

Greenville should take it upon herself to erect a fitting memorial shaft to the memory of Thomas Jordan Jarvis, her noblest citizen, who passed away a few nights ago. ExGovernor Jarvis' work for this town in particular has been such that it calls for a lasting tribute to be paid this great North Carolinian, and we can think of nothing that would be more appropriate than to erect a shaft in the court house square that will ever stand as a reminder of the great and noble work this man did before he was called to his reward.—Greenville Reflector.

"Bees are profitable when raised in Florida's all-year summer climate," declares the Lake Worth Herald. The Herald gives an interesting account of the bee-raising business conducted in Delray by J. I. Thieme. The apiary or bee farm mentioned has only 70 colonies of bees, but, according to the newspaper account one year's yield of honey was valued at $1,000 and Mr. Thieme had very little trouble taking care of his little busy workers. Florida offers all sorts of inducements to settlers and among them, one of the pursuits that has been but little appreciated is bee-raising.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

The wise farmer is the one who produces and manufactures his own products, thus securing the profit both ways. Thus it is interesting to note the interest being taken in North Carolina in the establishment of creameries, canning factories and other like industries. One small farmer cannot of his own efforts do much in the matter of manufacturing his products, but many small farmers joined together in co-operative companies can do a great deal. We note with pleasure that the people of North Carolina have shown so much interest in the dairy and creamery industry that the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture will assist the experiment station of the North Carolina Agricultural Department in establishing certain economic facts as to dairying. This should give impetus to the industry in the state and result in the establishment of dairies and creameries in a great many new sections. But the interest in these new industries have not come close enough home to entirely please The News. What we would like to see is a movement for the establishment of these industries which enable the farmers to manufacture their own products and reap a double profit in Eastern North Carolina; in Lenoir county; in Kinston. We have all the requirements to make it successful and we can certainly use the extra money to be derived from such industries. Who will be the pathfinder in this important undertaking?—Kinston News.

Blood Troubles Can not Remain If Properly Treated.

There is in S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, a property that absolutely compels harmful influences to disintegrate and lose their identity. No matter what they are called nor how destructive they are there is in S. S. S. a powerful, searching counter influence to annihilate the most eruptive germ, causes the mucous linings to convert it into an inert substance that is quickly thrown out of the blood and out of the body by the skin, lungs, kidneys, bowels, and destroyed in the liver. There is not a single advance in medicine today that in any sense is an improvement over S. S. S. Surgery is a wonderful, masterful science, but when it comes to purifying the blood S. S. S. stands alone. Thousands of doctors have prescribed it. Their patients do not always know it is S. S. S., because they leave the treatment to the doctor implicitly. HON. J. A. BROWN IN CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Chadbourn Man Makes Definite Announcement.

Will be Fifth Candidate from Sixth District—Long Prominent in Political and Industrial Movements of This Section.

In a personal letter to The Star yesterday, Hon. Joseph A. Brown, of Columbus, makes the definite announcement that he has decided to enter the race for the Congressional nomination in the Democratic primaries of the Sixth district, and expresses confidence that throughout the district his friends will rally to such an extent as will make his success practically certain.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Brown was very earnestly considering making the race, especially now that the district has a primary conducted in a legal manner and under strict rules, and his definite announcement, while coming as no surprise, will serve to clear up the atmosphere in the district and to make the lines of the forthcoming race very definitely drawn.

Mr. Brown writes that he notes some candidates are making their announcements rather lengthy and laying out at some length their platforms, but he considers that all party candidates should run on and obey party platforms.

Mr. Brown is easily one of the first Democrats of the district and will not only marshal a large strength in his own county of Columbus, but followers of the political game in the "bloody sixth" are fully aware of his formidable strength in every county in the district. At the Fayetteville convention which nominated Mr. Godwin some eight or ten years ago, he received New Hanover's solid support through six long days of balloting and his strength in the "State of Robeson" is said to be nearly as formidable as in his own county.

With Messrs. Little and McClammy, of New Hanover; Mr. Nimocks, of Fayetteville; Mr. Godwin, of Harnett, and Mr. Brown, of Columbus, in the race this time, it is expected that the contest will be sharp and that it will be one of the most interesting which the people of the State have beheld in some time.

Mr. Brown has served his county numerous terms in the House and Senate, of the State Legislature, and has been prominent in many of the constructive movements of a State-wide nature at various times. His developmental work in his own home county of Columbus, especially around Chadbourn, sometimes described as the "garden spot" of the Wilmington trucking belt, has attracted not only State but National attention.

COMES TO THE DISPATCH

Mr. R. A. Finch Succeeds Popular Local Newspaper Man, Who Changes.

The Wilmington newspaper colony has been glad to welcome within its ranks Mr. R. A. Finch, recently graduated at Trinity College, who joins the local staff of The Dispatch, succeeding the versatile and ever-popular T. M. Pridgen, who recently resigned to go with the New Hanover News and allied papers of the State Press Service Union. Mr. Pridgen and Mr. Finch began work in their respective new berths yesterday and that they will be cordially received by the public, there is no doubt.

Mr. Pridgen is a tireless worker, a breezy, snappy writer and numbers his friends by the hundreds. He will, no doubt, be missed on the local staff of The Dispatch which is in charge of Mr. W. E. Lawson, but Mr. Finch is well equipped for his new profession and will undoubtedly most acceptably fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Pridgen's retirement.

MR. LILES RESIGNS.

Mr. William H. Liles, who has been with the Wilmington Shoe Company for the last two years, has severed his connection with this firm and will leave in a few days for Rocky River Springs in Stanly county to spend a month. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Liles. He has not yet decided what he will do in the future but expects either to go on the road for a shoe firm or to engage in business for himself. He came to Wilmington from Durham and during his stay in this city has made a host of friends who hope that he may decide to remain in this city.

TO TAKE UP MATTER TODAY

Council of State Will Hold Hearing in Raleigh Regarding Appointment of Member of Board.

The appointment of a member of the Board of Education for New Hanover county to succeed J. O. Carr, Esq., who has been chairman for nearly six years, will be considered by the Council of State which meets in the office of Governor Craig this morning at 11 o'clock. Senator W. B. Cooper, who opposes the reappointment of Mr. Carr, and Representative W. P. Stacy, who favors Mr. Carr's appointment, left last night for Raleigh, to attend the hearing.

It will be remembered that Representative Stacy nominated Mr. Carr for the position and Senator Cooper nominated Mr. Cuthbert Martin. This resulted in a deadlock and the appointment is now to be made by the Council of State, which is composed of seven members, as follows: Governor Craig, president; Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction, secretary; Lieut.-Gov. E. L. Daughtridge; Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes, State Auditor W. P. Wood, State Treasurer B. R. Lacy, Attorney General T. W. Bickett. Each member has a vote on all matters coming up before the board.

Attorney General Bickett, who has been at Wrightsville Beach for several days, also left last night for Raleigh to attend the meeting of the Council. He said that if there are any indications that the hearing is to extend over several days that he will move that an adjournment be taken to Wrightsville Beach. There are three other similar appointments to be made by the Council.

Messrs. J. Allan Taylor and W. H. Sprunt and Marsden Bellamy, Esq., also left for Raleigh last night, and it is understood that they will urge the reappointment of Mr. Carr. Mr. C. C. Covington had also expected to attend the hearing to use his influence in behalf of Mr. Carr, but found that he would be unable to go. Many letters and strong endorsements of Mr. Carr are understood to have been sent to Raleigh.

Senator Cooper said yesterday that he expected to propose as a solution of the problem of selecting a third member of the Board of Education that the matter be left to a primary. This could be participated in by Democrats exclusively or by Democrats and Republicans, he said, whichever and Republicans, he said, which ever might be considered best by the Council of State.

In the event that a primary should be held he declared that he would be willing to pay 75 per cent. of the expense, and he felt sure that the opposition would be glad to pay the other 25 per cent.

Expressing it as his opinion that the one member of the Board should be from outside the city, Mr. Cooper said that should this be done he would suggest the appointment of either Mr. G. W. Trask, Mr. Oscar Pearsall, G. W. Westbrook or Mr. J. H. Johnston. If a city man is selected, he thought that either Mr. Cuthbert Martin, Mr. H. F. Wilder or Col. John VanB. Metts would make a good man.

He stated that he had nothing personal against Mr. Carr, and that his sole objection to his appointment is that he is too active in politics.

Mr. Carr announced some days ago that he would not attend the hearing as he felt sure that the Council of State would do whatever in their judgment is for the best interests of the people.

SHOWERS CAUSE LITTLE CHANGE IN TEMPERATURE

Mercury Shows Little Tendency to Drop and Wilmington Swelters.

While the showers last night offered a slight relief to the oppressive heat of the day, the mercury showed little tendency to drop and all last night it was still hot. The maximum yesterday in Wilmington was 94, which was the maximum registered in April, but on account of the humidity it seemed to be much hotter than the thermometer would indicate. All day people looked longingly for the showers which Observer Felger had promised would fall in the afternoon.

Finally there gathered a small cloud and then big drops of rain fell scatteringly about sundown. Then came a full grown shower, but it was still hot and oppressive.

Charlotte cooled off yesterday considerably and the highest for the day was 82 degrees while Raleigh reported 84 and Asheville only showed 80. All along the Atlantic coast and in the Mississippi valley, however, the mercury was in the nineties.

REUNION OF STUDENTS.

Alumni of Cape Fear Academy Will Have Dinner at Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

Promptly at 8 o'clock tonight the alumni of Cape Fear Academy will meet at the Y. M. C. A. for a banquet which will be served in the lecture room of the association building. The indications are that there will be a large number present to pay their respects to the honored principal of the school, Prof. Washington Catlett, and to enjoy an hour of good fellowship. All attending the banquet which will be quite an elaborate affair are requested to attend promptly.

The banquet and reunion is a result of a suggestion made several weeks ago by Rev. Andrew J. Howell. This at once gained popular favor and it was soon decided to have the dinner. Members of the alumni of this well known school include many prominent business and professional men in the city. Professor Catlett has been at the head of the school for the last 38 years and during that time has had hundreds of boys under his instruction. It will be a delight and a pleasure to his former students to pay tribute to his faithfulness and devotion to duty.

COMES TO WILMINGTON.

Capt. C. S. Ridley Will Report for Duty Here Next Sunday.

Announcement was made yesterday that Capt. C. S. Ridley, now in charge of the canalization project on the upper Cape Fear, will report for duty in Wilmington next Sunday. He will be associated with Maj. H. W. Stickle until about July 25th when the latter will leave for Baltimore to take charge of that district and Captain Ridley will take charge of the Wilmington district.

Mr. Norman N. Chivers, junior engineer, will have charge of the work on the upper Cape Fear.

ALLEGED VOTE BUYING WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Grand Jury Instructed to Look Into Matter.

Judge Rountree Declares Time Has Come to Take Heed to Rumors. Superior Court in Session. Several Cases Tried.

Judge George Rountree in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the June term of Superior Court yesterday morning instructed this body to make a thorough investigation of the alleged recent violations of State and municipal election laws. He explained the laws bearing on the subject and declared that the time has come to take heed to the persistent rumors that have been in circulation.

The jury was instructed with equal emphasis by Judge Rountree to look into the reports that there are "dives" in Wilmington, to which young men are lured and fleeced of their money by expert gamblers. Judge Rountree declared that it is his personal opinion that somebody on the county road force who is rather loose in the management of trusties. He said he considered that New Hanover county has the best set of Commissioners of any county in the State. He also praised the public institutions with the exception of the Court House, which he thinks ought to be torn down and replaced by a creditable structure.

Following the charge to the grand jury the trial of cases on the criminal docket was taken up and considerable progress was made in disposing of the calendar. Jim Hill, colored, who recently escaped from the county roads and was later arrested in New York, was given 15 months extra on the county roads. The negro was brought back to New Hanover the past week by Sheriff Cowan. He had only 15 months to serve when he escaped.

A recess was taken at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9:30 o'clock this morning. The civil suit in which J. G. Wright & Son are seeking to recover the commissions on $10,000 worth of property from the Kidder Lumber Company will be taken up at this time.

The grand jury was busy yesterday examining witnesses in cases on the calendar at this term and as soon as this work is completed will begin making investigations in accordance with the instructions of Judge Rountree, who told the jury to take all the time necessary as he expected to be in Wilmington practically all summer and there was no reason for them to hurry on his account. It is understood that a large number of witnesses has been summoned to testify before the grand jury regarding the alleged violations of the election laws.

Mr. E. H. Freeman was chosen as foreman of the grand jury. The other members are Geo. S. LeGrand, R. H. Dowles, Wm. M. Godwin, H. C. Cameron, J. W. Lewis, W. A. Dick, R. H. Jarman, E. R. Ellis, M. Schnibben, L. E. Woodbury, O. P. Peck, J. D. Edwards, former Councilman T. W. Wood, J. M. Cazaux, I. N. Burriss, W. S. Register, Policeman W. R. Appiebury.

Judge Rountree in his charge called attention to the fact that there are plenty of laws on the statute books to break up the practice of buying and selling of votes in every section of the State. He thought that the ideal plan for a primary would be to have the State, county or city to pay the expenses but feared that it would be a long time before it is reached. People in general seem never to have heard of the corrupt practices act of 1913, he declared, and if they have they treat it with light regard.

He spoke emphatically in referring to his intention to enforce the law against the rich and poor alike as long as he is judge and expressed profound contempt for any judge or solicitor who did not follow such a course. He told the members of the jury that they would have to make a thorough investigation of the matter of vote buying or be false to their oaths. However, before doing their duty, it would first be necessary for them to know what it is, and that he said devolved upon him in his capacity as presiding judge.

He instructed them that no violations of more than two years' standing need be considered as they are barred by the statute of limitations. He read Section 184 of the Public Laws of 1913, which contains the corrupt practices act.

The first section, he pointed out, makes it a misdemeanor for election officers to fail to prepare books, tickets, blanks. This he hardly thought necessary to be seriously considered as the candidates usually look out for such matters.

Referring to the section making it unlawful to bet on an election he said he did not know why this should have been included as betting of all kinds is prohibited by the general law. He explained that it is a violation of the law to discharge an employe on account of anything he does with reference to his voting and also to contribute any money to the campaign fund of a candidate unless it is reported immediately to the candidate so that the latter can make report to the election authorities. Failure by a candidate to make such a report makes it a misdemeanor for him.

Candidates are also forbidden to spend more than 50 per cent of their salary in defraying the expenses of their campaign. Another section makes it unlawful to publish anything in a newspaper or pamphlet derogatory to a candidate unless signed by the writer. Judge Rountree thought that this should be given wide circulation. He explained that whether signed or not the writer is liable under the State libel laws. Another clause in the act makes it unlawful to promise any office in return for political support.

Judge Rountree then took up the special law for Wilmington which prohibits any officer or employe of the city from forcing a man under him to accept his views or to contribute anything to campaigns. Judge Rountree condemned in strong language the expenditures of large sums of money on elections and called attention to the fact that any person who shall agree to work for a candidate for money or anything of value shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Another clause makes it unlawful not only to give a bribe but to offer one. It is unlawful, he pointed out, for any person to offer an office in return for support. No money shall be expended in a local campaign until it is first approved by the County Board of Elections and then only to the amount of $200.

The following entries were made on the court minutes yesterday: Barney Helms, larceny, nol pros; Judson Wheeler, larceny, nol pros; T. C. Simmons and Bertha Rouse, one of the grosser offenses, nol pros; Mamie Gibbs, retailing, nol pros, sci fa, judgment absolute; F. B. Andrews, failure to pay taxes, nol pros; Willie Stokeley, seduction, nol pros; James Harvin, larceny, judgment suspended upon payment of the costs; Charles Williams, housebreaking, declared not guilty by jury.

Judgment of non-suit was taken in the following civil cases: Acme Manufacturing Company against Scotland Supply Co.; Con-es-tee Chemical Company against Hobbs & Russ; Con-es-tee Chemical Company against W. R. Keen.

MELANCHOLY WOMEN.

Women should understand that melancholy, commonly called the "Blues," is in nine times out of ten a pure symptom of some organic derangement which should have attention. For nearly forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for such conditions, as proved by many testimonials which we are constantly publishing from women who have been restored to health by its use.

"The Wrong Girl" with the well known Vitagraph fun-makers, Wally Vann, Lillian burns, Garry Mae Garry, and "Scoedie Goes to College," an Essanay comedy, will be shown at Lumina tonight. These two reels of fun and mirth will provide plenty of amusement for those visiting the popular pavilion.

SURPRISE AT LUMINA

Texas Quartette Entertained and Amused Large Audience.

Ever alert to cater to the amusement of the people and in fact anticipating what would delight them, the management of Lumina, the summer resort pavilion at Wrightsville Beach has taken another forward step in this direction, one that is decidedly enterprising and that will place the pleasure resort further ahead in the front rank because the innovation is to be in the shape of a gift to the public.

During one of the intermissions of dancing the Texas Quartette, harmony singers, surprised the patrons of Lumina last night, an dsuch a surprise, the thunderous appeals of applause, after the first selection rendered by the quartette vied with Father Neptune on a stormy day. Without previous advertising or notice, the quartette appeared on the ball room floor at 9 o'clock. The harmony singing was especially well rendered and the patrons of Lumina were loud and prolific in their praise of this new innovation.

For years it has been the custom to provide the best and most refined, as well as novel type of free attractions, at Lumina, aside from its many other attractions, including dancing and the latest motion pictures. This year in looking over the field it was decided to make a departure, one which the public, that loves variety, will hail with delight. It has been decided to provide entertainments at the pavilion, not the commonplace brand, but something out of the ordinary, that is classed with the entertainers on the big chautauqua and lyceum circuits.

So in order to obtain such a contract has been closed with Mr. Frank W. Pieffer, as entertainment director and from now on entertainers such as the Texas quartette will mark and greatly enhance the pleasure at Lumina. It is proposed to present one big entertaining specialty if possible nightly, and the acts will be something suitable for presentation on the ball room floor. These acts will be of the best kind and will be novelties. To give one an idea of them, they will include acts like, big singing spectacles, elaborate jugglingand acrobatic features, Japanese performers and the like. The value of this style as big and wholesome entertainment will add luster to Lumina's amusement brightness, providing fine variety in the way of entertainment and appealing to all especially those who do not participate in the dancing or those who no longer wish to dance the modern dances.

Care will be observed in the selection of the entertainers and Mr. Pieffer, who has had extensive experience, will devote his entire time to the work, thus assuring the very best.

The entertainments will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock and tonight at 9 o'clock. Today the Texas quartette will change their repertoire, giving entire change of programme.

SEASIDE CHAUTAUQUA OPENED LAST NIGHT

led the children from the town of Hamlin because the citizens wouldn't pay him for leading the rats out. Then he asked the members of the audience what their towns would be like if the children were taken out. "What would Wilmington be, if a childless ity? What would real estate drop to at once?"

The Child's Real Worth.

We often read statistical reports of the value of the corn crop of the United States, amounting to so many million dollars, the cotton crop, the wheat crop, but the most valuable crop is the baby crop, which estimated according to Dr. White's figures, strictly from a commercial standpoint, is worth $7,-960,000,000 per year. A child is the greatest contribution any two people can give the world, when considered from a strictly commercial standpoint.

Then comes the real worth of a child. Ask any mother what her baby is worth. There is no way of telling. What is it worth to the father at his daily duties in accumulated energy and inspiration? In his increased value to the world because of the responsibility he feels. To the human family as a whole, what is the value of the children? How long could human beings exist without children? What would become of the work of the world if there were no children to grow up and take the place of the old men? They are the principle of life to the race. The child is the form in which the Spirit of God injects sustenance to the life of the race.

Not only must this be considered from the standpoint of how long the present generation would live, but the best of life is kept up by the very soul relations of the children and their parents. How often is seen a man, who if only himself were to provide for, would neglect duties. The great qualities of life are developed only by the ever present desires that an elevating love causes.

Dr. White said that last winter he was walking a back street in Atlanta during a blizzard when the electric wires of the city were down. The wind was up and a freezing rain was falling. He met a man almost crying, but sticking to his post. Questioning him, the man told him he was about to freeze. "Why don't you go in out of the cold," asked the Doctor. "I have a wife and some children over there," pointing toward a cottage, "who are freezing for want of coal, and starving for want of food, I must stick to my work to provide for them." It is this spirit of constancy, that can only be had by the relations of the little children that keeps men at their posts. This spirit, that develops what is best in men. Take away the home relations, and our society won't wait for deaths to loss its high standing. Degradation would set in at once. That home ties are held by the birth of children was shown by the fact that 70 per cent of the divorces are from childless marriages. The child is a Heavenly cement to hold society together as well as to build up what is best in people.

Vocal Music Feature.

The audience was responsive and applauded the lecturer all through the evening, but made an uproar when it finally closed in a climax.

An especially interesting feature of the programme was the vocal music led by Dr. Hubert McN. Poteat, professor of Latin at Wake Forest College, of Wake Forest, N. C. Dr. Poteat is a man of personality that attracts and entertains, besides having a voice of wide range and a genuine temperament in music coupled with a fine technique. He graduated from Wake Forest College in 1906, took his M. A. from the same institution in 1908, his Ph.D. from Columbia University in New York City in 1912. While in Columbia University he was college organist. At the same time he was baritone soloist in the Church of the Ascension in the city. Both of which he did with credit to himself and the great institution he represented.

Dr. Poteat is author of two sacred songs that have just been published. Besides being professor of Latin in Wake Forest College, he is director of the college Glee Club, all of which goes to show that his proficiency in music has recognition among the people with whom he moves daily. Dr. Poteat says Latin is his hobby, but he seems to have several others. His accomplishments in music give him a stand that is enviable, his forceful and entertaining personality is an asset of unlimited value. Besides all this the Doctor was inter-collegiate tennis champion of the South in the years 1907 and 1908.

Exercises Today.

Before the lecture Mr. E. L. Middleton, of Raleigh, secretary of the Convention Chautauqua committee, and acclaimed temporary chairman until organization, which takes place this morning in Assembly Hall at the Oceanic Hotel, made the following announcements: Owing to the inability of Dr. Prince E. Burroughs, of Nashville, Tenn., to be present, the numbers in which his name appears in the programme will be filled by Drs. B. W. Spilman, of Kinston, and Dr. J. T. Watts, of Richmond, Dr. Spilman delivering the first lecture and Dr. Watts the second and alternating till the programme is finished. Miss Annie L. Williams, field worker Sunday School Board Southern Baptist Convention, of Birmingham, Ala., was not present yesterday, but a telegram was read from her stating that she would be here this morning.

The Chautauqua is divided into several sections. Part is devoted to a regular outside entertainment in which the pubiic can enjoy, and another part is used for the getting together of the Baptist church workers for their mutual betterment in education, understanding of their work and for literary development. It will be noticed that Rev. J. T. Watts, of Richmond, was not on the programme, but he was secured as an addition to the already attractive programme after it had been printed. The regular work of the pastors present will be similar to school work and text books will be used and are on sale at the Oceanic Hotel now.

The permanent organization will be completed this morning in assembly hall at the Oceanic hotel. With Dr. Middleton as acting chairman, a temporary organization committee was appointed on motion of Dr. Spilman. The committee appointed consists of Dr. B. W. Spilman, Rev. J. A. Sullivan, of Wilmington, and Dr. W. O. Rosser, of Edenton.

Dr. White, it will be noticed in the programme, is scheduled for an address this morning and his closing lecture this evening.

THRONGS PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF JARVIS

Many From Far and Near Attend Funeral at Greenville

Dr. J. Y. Joyner, Colonel John F. Bruton and Others Participate in Funeral Services—Resolutions Adopted.

Greenville, N. C., June 21.—On few occasions of the kind have so many people gathered to pay tribute to the memory of a man in North Carolina as gathered here Sunday afternoon for the funeral of former Governor Thomas J. Jarvis, which was conducted from Jarvis Memorial Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Daniel, assisted by Rev. Harry M. North, of Durham. The city of Greenville turned out in full, while Pitt and the surrounding counties were represented by many and there were large numbers of representative citizens, State officials and men of prominence from many sections of the State, which the Governor loved and served so well.

The grave in Cherry Hill cemetery was banked in floral offerings, of many and magnificent designs, the tribute of friends and admirers from far and near, from organizations and individuals. The body lay in state in Jarvis Memorial church for five hours preceding the funeral services. Flowers ad drapings of mourning were everywhere in evidence, about the church and the county court house.

Besides the singing of music which is known wherever there are churches, and the reading of the scriptures, a poem, "Recompense," was read by Col. John F. Bruton, of Wilson, this as a message from Mrs. T. J. Jarvis. Scripture readings and prayers by Rev. Harry M. North, of Durham, and Rev. J. M. Daniel, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, and remarks by Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of public instruction; Judge H. G. Connor, of Wilson, and Rev. H. M. North. These made up the services at the church, at the grave in Cherry Hill cemetery there being prayers and the benediction. The services were simple throughout, by this losing nothing in their impressiveness.

The active pallbearers were: Messrs Felix Harvey, Joe Brown, Ed Harris, Frank Wooten, L. P. Meadows, Jesse Moye, Richard Williams, C. S. Carr, J. L. Little, Herbert White and Judge Harry Whedbee.

The honorary pallbearers were: A. L. Blow, F. G. James, C. W. Wilson, J. B. Leigh, A. McDowell, Y. T. Ormond, of Kinston; J. W. Hines, of Rocky Mount; W. T. Dortch, of Goldsboro; J. Y. Joyner, of Raleigh; F. C. Harding, R. C. Flanagan, Judge H. G. Connor, of Wilson; R. L. Thomas, of Durham; Col. John F. Bruton, of Wilson; Judge F. A. Daniels, of Goldsboro; Judge Geo. H. Brown, of Washington; Judge W. R. Allen, of Goldsboro; O. L. Joyner, J. Ed. Stagg, of Durham; Edward E. Britton, Raleigh; Col. J. Bryan Grimes, of Raleigh; John E. Woodard, of Wilson; Col. W. P. Wood, of Raleigh; M. L. Shipman, of Raleigh; W. S. O'B. Robinson, of Goldsboro; Hon. E. L. Daughtridge, of Rocky Mount; Dr. Albert Anderson, of Raleigh; C. O'H. Laughinghouse, R. R. Cotten, of Cottondale; T. M. Arrington, of Rocky Mount; C. D. Rountree, R. R. Fleming.

Resolutions Adopted.

The board of directors of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School at its meeting Saturday adopted the following resolutions:

"Ripe in years and full of good works Governor Thomas Jordan Jarvis departed this life on June 17, 1915. He was at the time of his death, and had been since the foundation of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, the senior member of the board of trustees. Sensible of the loss occasioned by his death not only to the institution, but to the whole State of North Carolina, the board of trustees thought it but proper to meet and record our tribute to the memory and faithful service of our distinguished associate.

"Governor Jarvis was born in Currituck county, but he was more than the son of any one county—he was loyal to every sentiment that meant her uplift, and devoted to every principle that tended to make her people free and great. He was the friend of public education, because in it he saw a dynamic force to lift the people of his beloved State to a higher and a nobler destiny. Becoming the friend of general education he became its strongest advocate and his whole life and energy were at its command, obstacles in its way were but stepping stones to its greater accomplishments.

"To carry out his ideals he quickly recognized the need of better trained and better equipped teachers for the public schools. To him this crying need became a sacred duty and in his unselfish heart he forgot every labor and sacrifice which the accomplishment of his desired end entailed upon him, but with an ardor and zeal better fitting a younger man he launched upon this great enterprise. The accomplishment of his highest purpose was the creation and establishment of the East Carolina N. C., the establishment of which is N. C. This establishment of which is but a fitting memorial of his last great service to the people he loved so dearly.

"The school may fittingly be called the 'child of his old age,' and his unselfish heart gave to it the best of his energy, thought and consideration. No parent ever beheld with more loving satisfaction and pride the growth and development of a promising child than did Governor Jarvis the growth, development and increasing usefulness of the Training School.

"He was the oldest and the wisest member of the board of trustees from the establishment of the school to the time of his death. We naturally looked to him for leadership. He was a wise and considerate leader, but he was always deferential to the opinion of the youngest and the least experienced member of the board. His love for the school was second only to his love for North Carolina.

"His successor will be appointed but to fill his place on the board of trustees is more than any one can hope.

"In dictating this simple tribute to the memory of our foremost fellow-citizen and our associate on the board of trustees, we can but confess the poverty of our language to fully express the deep emotions of our hearts at this great loss not only to the board of trustees and the school, but to public education and the State, for in the death of Governor Jarvis the State lost one of her wisest counselors, one of her purest, most unselfish, loyal and patriotic citizens.

"So pure was he as a man, so unselfish and loyal as a citizen, so safe and wise as a leader, so true and childlike in his death as a Christian, that we hold up not only to the growing generation, but to future generations, his life and character as most worthy of emulation.

"We treasure the memory of his useful life and esteem, as a priceless heritage, the memory of our association with him, and will endeavor to hold up the high ideals for which he stood.

"Therefore, be it resolved:

"1. That we are grateful to the Father of All for the privilege of having been associated with so noble and so wise a man. His services were unstinted, untiring and unselfish. Wherever he led we could safely follow. In his death our loss is irreparable. We will miss him.

"2. That Mrs. Thomas J. Jarvis, his beloved wife ,and the other members of his family have our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this bereavement.

"3. That a couy of this preamble and these resolutons be spread upon our minutes, a copy be sent to the State press and a copy be sent to Mrs. Jarvis and the family."

TEN THOUSAND EACH YEAR GO WEST TO DIE

Results of Studies on Tuberculous Travelers.

United States Public Health Service Reports—Hopeless Cases Decreasing—Protection of Traveling Public Considered.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—That 10,000 consumptives annually go West to die is the statement made by the United States Public Health Service, as the result of investigations recently completed. The tuberculosis population of Western Texas and New Mexico is estimated to exceed 50,000, and from 20 per cent. to 60 per cent. of the families have some member who is or was infected. The consumptive population who have migrated from other states is more than 2,000 at Albuquerque, about 3,000 at El Paso, and 3,500 at San Antonio.

The effects of the transportation of thousands of consumptives to and from the resort cities upon the health of fellow travelers, the dangers arising to the communities themselves from the influx of invalids, and the social and economic results, are the subject of this broad and interesting study.

Contrary to general opinion, the migration of the tuberculous is increasing. Practically every resort city of the country is today receiving more consumptives than ever, although in most instances this increase has not kept pace with that of the population. Tables of death rates of the principal resort cities clearly demonstrate this fact. In other words, more people seek climatic cure for tuberculosis at present that at any previous time.

Hopeless Cases Decreasing.

The percentage of deaths from tuberculosis occurring within a short period of arrival is lessening. This is encouraging, and indicates that the educational propaganda to keep far advanced cases at home has been of benefit. Nevertheless, as high as 15 percent of all deaths occur within 30 days after arrival. This shows that many were in a dying condition when they were transferred. Forty-six per cent. of all deaths occur within six months of arrival, indicating that many consumptives go to the West too late to be benefited. Instances are cited of deaths overtaking sufferers on trains and in stations.

The sanitation of railway coaches and the precautions observed while in transit receive particular attention. The average consumptive exercises no precautionary measures. The care given cars at terminals has an important bearing upon the situation, and the necessity for the greatest thoroughness in the sanitation of cars at resort terminals is emphasized. Means for regulating the evil of traveling consumptives are considered. Hospital cars, segregation, quarantine, and other schemes, are shown to be impracticable. The public must, therefore, look to reasonable sanitary measures for protection.

Dust, confinement, altitude, and parting from friends, are declared to be often detrimental to patients, especially those in the later stages of the disease. Cases of this nature should invariably be guided by professional advice. Accompaniment by friends wherever possible is urged.

Reception Accorded Consumptives.

Marked antagonism has developed in many Western cities toward tuberculosis sufferers. Great difficulty is at times encountered in securing hotel accommodations and boarding places. Even hospital care is occasionally denied to those amply supplied with funds. Part of this feeling is due to objectionable conduct on the part of consumptives themselves, and also to fear of the disease. Much of it is unreasonable and unjust. Even in towns largely composed of the invalid class this feeling is sometimes manifested. In some cities, at least, it is due to a determined effort to rid the community of the presence of invalids. So strong is this resentment that the health service warns all those who present an appearance of invalidism to be governed accordingly.

The charity organizations of the resort cities have claimed that hundreds of consumptives have become a burden upon their communities. So great was the outcry that a conference of representatives from Western states was called by the Governor of Texas, and the Federal government appealed to for aid. Up until the present time few figures have been advanced showing the extent of the problem.

Many invalids are forwarded by churches, lodges and unions, from other states. These people are soon obliged to seek charitable relief. Work is often unobtainable, and competition is so keen that consumptives have little opportunity of obtaining lucrative employment.

Number of Paupers Overestimated.

Private charity for the relief of sufferers is extensive, and too great praise cannot be accorded the people of the southwest for the assistance rendered, southwest for the assistance rendered but the public charity dispensed has been little enough, and not at all commensurate with the benefits derived from the coming of health seekers. In one instance the exact annual per capita cost to the taxpayers was found to be three cents, whereas the city derived untold benefit from the thousands of invalids who were able to care for themselves. A large percentage of cases are shown by their origin and length of residence not to belong to other states. In estimating the extent of poverty, the investigator even went so far as to determine the proportion of bodies returned to relatives. This varied from 30 per cent. at San Antonio to 60 per cent. at Albuquerque.

The public health service warns all prospective health seekers of the difficulties they are bound to encounter, and advises all who are not sufficiently provided with funds to remain at home. No invalid should venture forth unless he has sufficient money to last at least six months. The chances of recovery are greatly lessened when poverty exists.

Whether the coming of thousands of consumptives into the arid region has been of benefit to the section is hardly considered a debatable question. The growth of cities has been favored, industries developed, and production encouraged, by the invalid class. Consumptives are engaged in practically every occupation, and the business and professional life of many cities is carried on in large part by them. The effects upon wages has probably not been entirely negligible.

Danger in Resort Cities Slight.

Of particular interest to physicians, as well as the public, especially in view of the newer theories regarding the communicability of tuberculosis, are the facts marshalled to show the degree of danger to residents of the resort cities from the influx of consumptives. Medical statistics relating to this aspect of the question have been notoriously unreliable. Tables are presented which go far toward proving that the degree of communicability of the disease, at least to adults, has probably been overestimated, and that the dangers to healthy persons

Safety+Quickness

"Safety First" must ever be the watchword in firearms. But safety must not be secured at the expense of quick action. The Colt Automatic Pistol combines the most dependable kind of safety—automatic safety—with instant firing.

The Colt can't be discharged accidentally, because the trigger must be pulled and the safety in the grip must be pressed in at the same instant and this can't be done except it is done purposely. So much for safety.

As for quickness, the Colt always gets there first, for in an emergency you don't have to bother with or think about the grip safety—it takes care of itself and you.

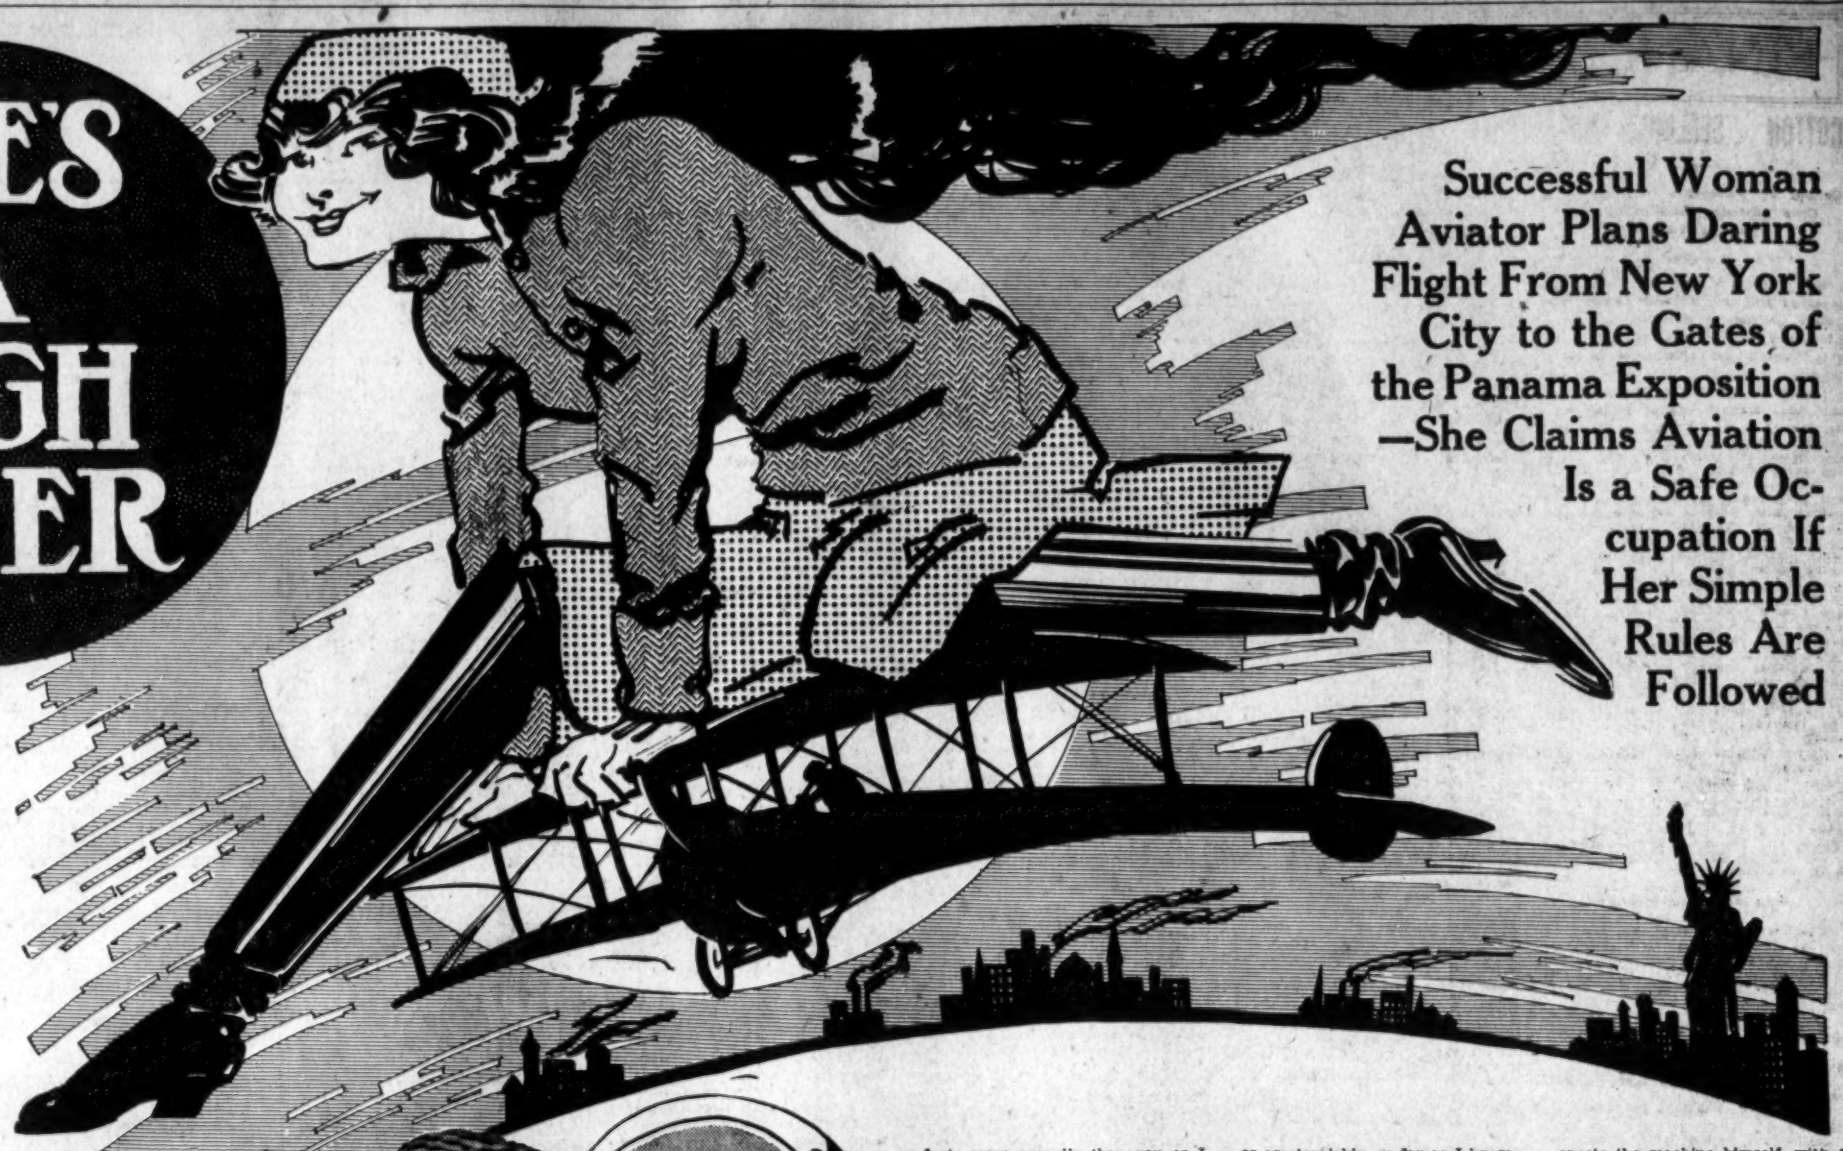
SHE'S A HIGH FLYER



Successful Woman Aviator Plans Daring Flight From New York City to the Gates of the Panama Exposition —She Claims Aviation Is a Safe Occupation If Her Simple Rules Are Followed

Mr. Farmer, anywhere between New York and San Francisco:

If some day in June a strange object settles down in your wheat field right from the sky, and out of its steps a tiny creature with brown curls and a queer array of clothes, don't take the object for a huge dragon fly, nor its rider for a brownie queen!

Let me introduce Miss Katherine Stinson, foremost American aviatrice, on her way to the Panama Exposition at San Francisco.

You will interfere with a great many nicely arranged plans if you top her on her way to inquire, as you will feel disposed upon seeing the young lady, how comes it that she is so far away from home, and does her mother know she is out?

Miss Stinson is of age, though she does not look it.

She can fly a flying machine with skill and daring. Veterans in the business of flying defer to her opinions and speak her name with respect.

A CHILD IN APPEARANCE.

She looks and smiles like a runaway schoolgirl on a lark and weighs only 103 pounds, but she can slide down a sky bank and do an air loop in a way that makes your hair curl, even to think about. Skimming along the sky in a straightaway course 1,500 feet above the earth is as mild a diversion for her as riding in a trolley car is for the rest of us. She is a member of the Aero Club of America and her license is No. 148, Mr. Farmer.

Miss Stinson's present purpose is to go up in New York City in June and come down on the Fourth of July in San Francisco.

Those who know Miss Stinson in the flying game say that she will do it.

Miss Stinson herself puts it this way: "Why do you suppose I would pay a man to go out and make bookings for me if I didn't intend to make the flight? Of course I intend to fly from New York to San Francisco. It has been done. Cal Rogers did it, and Robert Fowler flew from San Francisco to Florida. I've already flown over most of the country I shall go through in June in short flights. It is a question only of doing the thing again connectedly."

Miss Catherine Stinson.

Miss Stinson's plan as at present outlined contemplates flying six or seven hours every day, making stops every now and then, say three a day, at towns which put up an award for a landing.

At these stopping places—county fairs and the like—she will give short exhibitions of flying. She will go to Chicago from New York. After Chicago she will work her way Texasward, and thence west over Arizona into southern California, then north to San Francisco.

USES SPECIAL MACHINE.

A machine is being built for the flight. She calls it a Stinson-Partridge tractor and describes it as "having an inclosed fuciliage, propeller in front, motor just behind and pilot behind motor."

"I wanted a machine especially for cross-country flights," she explained. "Few are kept in stock, you know. Mine had to be a combination of cross the country and looping machines. By removing cross-country extensions the machine will be right for looping."

Relays of mechanics will await Miss Stinson at various points on her cross-America trip. She will carry parts of repair machinery with her. Her plan contemplates making between 250 and 300 miles a day. Her machine will make from 40 to 86 miles an hour without the extensions, and 65 miles an hour in straight flights.

Except where covering contracts necessitates it, she will not fly in stormy weather. Not that it is impossible, but rain cuts the face like gravel at the rate the machine must take if it stays up in the air. The aviator's worst enemy is not the storm, but the cold, according to Miss Stinson. Cold incapacitates hands and feet for controlling the machinery.

CARES NOT FOR SUPERSTITIONS.

Not worried about superstitions is Miss Stinson. Not a bit of it.

She mentions flyers that have passed away in attempting daring feats more casually than you or I, who are in no danger of ever experimenting with the aeronautic game, would speak of them.

"Why can't I do it?" she will say, when such and such a feat of skyrocketing is mentioned.

"Cal Rodgers did it. Beachey did it. Johnstone did it. Max Lillie did it."

"Shouldn't think you'd—ahem—care to think—that is—"

"Why not? What happened to them must not be charged up against the sport. Other factors should take the blame," is the way little Miss Stinson meets the situation.

"You are not in the least superstitious?"

"Not at all!" the aviatrice smiles radiantly. "I simply do not believe in signs and omens and Fridays and thirteens and the rest."

"Spilling the salt has no terrors for you, putting on your left shoe first, seeing the new moon over your left shoulder, breaking the mirror, singing before breakfast, black cat running across your path, taking a knife from a friend, letting a person or a post get between you and a friend while walking, turning a garment that you have put on wrong side out, bragging without touching wood, wearing opals—you don't mind doing any of these?" the listener gasps.

"No, indeedy! But, come to think of it, I don't like to walk under a ladder," said Miss Stinson apologetically. "'Fraid paint will fall on me, I guess."

There are but two women flying professionally in America today—or amateurishly, so far as I know—and the one is Miss Katherine Stinson, and the other is her younger sister, Miss Marjorie.

BUT TWO WOMEN FLYING TODAY.

Miss Stinson has flown in sixteen states, though never east of Cincinnati.

She gave an exhibition in Chicago last year before the Federation of Women's Clubs.

She learned to fly in 1912, taught by Max Lillie, and used a Wright machine. Her first trip in an airship was made as a passenger in St. Louis in a Benoist machine. She came all the way from Jackson, Miss., to St. Louis to learn the aviating business. On reaching St. Louis she learned about Mr. Lillie and the aviation field at Cicero, near Chicago, and went on to Chicago after wiring her mother and obtaining permission.

"Mother never objected to my having my heart's desire," Miss Stinson says, said heart's desire being to learn aviation.

What father thinks she does not mention.

She was an expert motor car driver before turning aviatrice, and allows that she was born without nerves.

This winter Miss Stinson has had the use of the hangars at the fort at San Antonio, Texas, to perfect her skill in flying. Evidence of the faith folks have in her is given by the fact that the public schools have excused classes again and again to permit school children to witness her flights, and she has taken numbers of them up with her in her machine.

"There is really not the danger in flying that most people think there is. Reckless flyers have brought the sport into some discredit. My idea is to show how much can be done within the bounds of safety. If the flyer carefully inspects the machine himself, with a mechanician, before undertaking a flight, and does nothing foolishly, it is a safe sport," she declares.

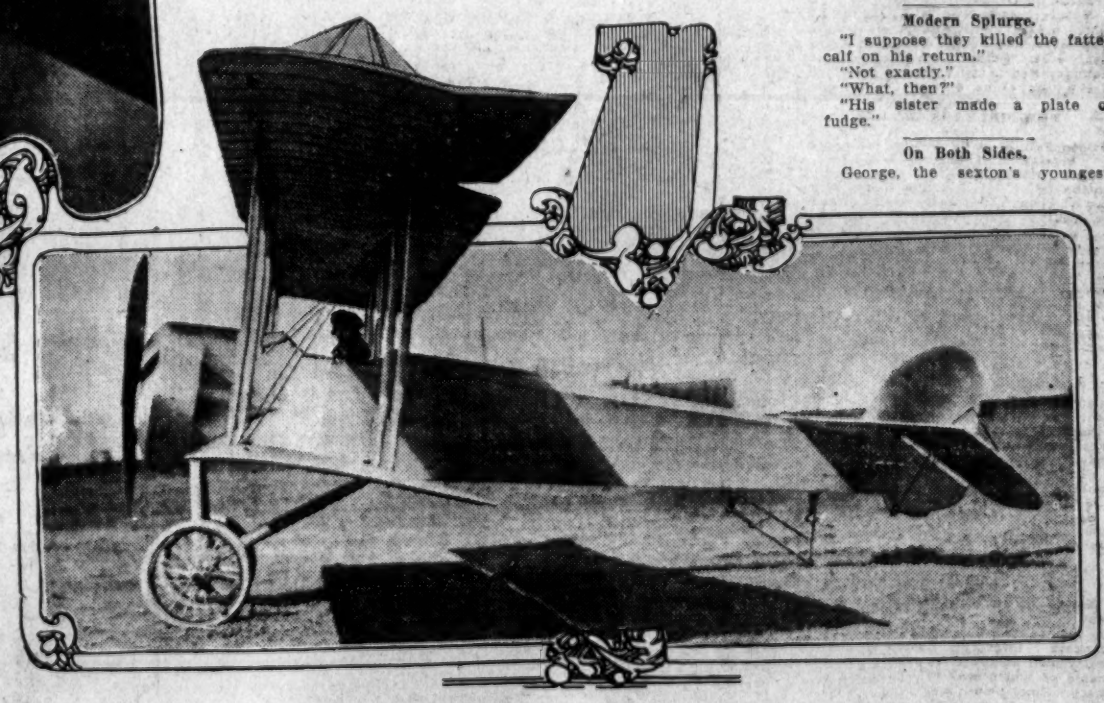
"Especially when one makes a point to go up high enough to keep out of 'air pockets,' as they used to be called. At 1,500 feet air currents are perfectly understandable and dependable, and flying is a delight. Flying high is one of the greatest secrets of successful flying. Be sure your machine is built for the stress that is to be put on it, and always replace worn parts immediately. Take no chances."

"What's the most fun of flying?" she was asked.

"The sense of being apart from the world; the further up you go, the greater the pleasure—and the greater the safety."

"What makes you think of going this way to the fair, fair maid?"

"Because it is the easiest way, and I naturally take to flying," explained little Miss Stinson.



"Making a Good Landing the Most Important Feature," Says Miss Stinson.

Modest.

"Who was that modest-looking young man, Cyrus?"

"Modest-looking? Say, what do you think he was?"

"I don't know."

"He was a moving picture maker. All he wanted was to borrow our church for a mock marriage and then have a bogus shooting affray on the front steps."

Modern Splurge.

"I suppose they killed the fatted calf on his return."

"Not exactly."

"What, then?"

"His sister made a plate of fudge."

On Both Sides.

George, the sexton's youngest, was recounting the prowess of his grandfather to Herbert, the rector's son, who was properly impressed, and asked:

"Your grandfather on your father's or mother's side?"

"Oh, he sticks up for both of 'em," said George.

Risking Himself.

"You do not think the play a proper one for me to go to?"

"Decidedly not."

"But what shall I do with the tickets?"

"Give them to me."

COTTON SELLING ACTIVE

Caused by Favorable Weather and Crop Advices—Close at Net Decline of 17 Points.

New York, June 21.—Favorable weather and crop advices caused more active selling in the cotton market here today and prices closed barely stead yat a net decline of 17 to 18 points.

Liverpool was lower than due and the local market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points, with active months selling about 8 to 12 points under Saturday's closing figures during the early trading. July was relatively easy under scattering liquidation, but at a difference of about 40 to 42 points under October, there was a good demand for the near months against sales of the later deliveries. Rallies were limited, however, and selling became more general during the afternoon owing to a bearish report on crop conditions in Texas and North Louisiana from a prominent traveling expert. Active months sold 17 to 18 points net lower, but a better demand was encountered around 975 for October and the decline was checked at that level although closing prices were practically the lowes tof the day. The large spot business at Liverpool tended to offset the influence of the decline in futures.

Cotton futures closed barely steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Prices Fell 16 to 17 Points Yesterday, Closing at About the Lowest.

New Orleans, June 21.—The price of cotton fell 16 to 17 points today, closing at about the lowest. Improvement in weather conditions over the belt, better crop accounts, poor cables and easier spot markets were the chief reasons for the slump. Much liquidation by buyers of the last two weeks was brought about and offerings of short cotton were liberal.

The market opened at a decline in sympathy with the poor Liverpool cables. The weather map showing dry and warm weather over the cotton region, increased the disposition to sell. In the afternoon the decline was widened following the reduction of local spot quotations by 12 points and the report that buyers were finding it much easier to trade on the grades they required.

Cotton futures closing: July 9.07; October 9.50; December 9.72; January 9.88; March 10.07.

Spot quiet, 12 points down; middling 9.00; sales on the spot 258 bales; to arrive, none.

COTTON SEED OIL MARKET.

New York, June 21. — Cotton seed oil easy today, under scattered liquidation on the weakness in other commodity markets. Offerings, however, were pretty well absorbed by shorts, considerable of which was attributed to refiners. Final prices were 1 to 5 points net lower. Sales, 26,500 barrels. The market closed weak. DRY GOODS MARKET.

French buyers were in the market for cotton Warhop staple dress goods. Cotton yarns, steady. Several well known lines of cotton goods were opened for Spring, 1916, season.

Chicago Market Goes Lower Than It Has Been at Any Time Since New Crop Began.

Chicago, June 21.—Wheat prices broke to below $1.00 a bushel today, the first time for the 1915 crop. WAR STOCK LOOMS LARGE

Wall Street Takes Its Eyes Off Europe and Places Them Upon the U. S. Supreme Court.

New York, June 21.—Wall Street's attention was temporarily diverted today from foreign affairs to the United States Supreme Court which held its final open session prior to the summer recess. That tribunal handed down a number of decisions of interest to the financial and industrial communities, the most important of which dealt with the relations between the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad and its subsidiary, the coal company. This relationship was declared to be in violation of the law and its effect upon coal carriers is not to be ignored, even though this was not directly discernible on the market for such securities.

War stock again loomed large in the day's trading with new high records for Bathlehem Steel at 1.73 3-4 and Baldwin Loomotive at 69 3-4. United States Steel, after a heavy opening soon advanced on buying which comprised many large individual transactions. Its best prices was recorded in the final dealings. Metal issues recovered from the lethargy of the previous week.

HAD PELLAGRA; IS NOW CURED

Hillsboro, Ala.—J. W. Turner, of this place, says: "I ought to have written you two weeks ago, but failed to do so. I got well and then forgot to write you. I can get about like a 10-year-old boy; you ought to see me run around and tend to my farm. I can go all day just like I used to. I am so thankful to know there is such a good remedy to cure people of pellagra."

There is no longer any doubt that pellagra can be cured. Don't delay until it is too late. It is your duty to consult the resourceful Baughn.

The symptoms—hands red like sunburn, skin peeling off, sore mouth, the lips, throat and tongue a flaming red, with much mucus and choking; indigestion and nausea, either diarrhoea or constipation.

There is hope; get Baughn's big Free book on Pellagra and learn about the remedy for Pellagra that has at last been found. Address American Compounding Co., box 3097, Jasper, Ala., remembering money is refunded in any case where the remedy fails to cure.—Adv't.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

are no greater in the resort cities than elsewhere.

The decimation of the Mexican population of the southwest by tuberculosis is brought to the attention of the public for the first time. The author considers that the peons are much less resistent than either negroes or Indians, and he paints a pathetic picture of the ravages of the disease. The tuberculosis death rate of this particular class was found to be four times that of the registration area, and recovery, once the infection develops, is almost unheard of. The causes are attributed to low racial immunity, and insanitary living conditions.

NOTED HARVESTER CASE IS REOPENED

For New Argument at Fall Term of Supreme Court.

BOTH SIDES SURPRISED

Neither the Government Nor the Company Had Asked for a Re-Hearing. Speculation as to the Court's Purpose.

Washington, June 21.—The International Harvester case, foremost of all the Government's anti-trust proseutions now in the Supreme Court, was re-opened today for a new argument at the fall term beginning in October.

Neither the government nor the company had asked for a re-hearing; the court's action was a complete surprise to attorneys for both sides and was announced without explanation.

From precedent and practice, it was inferred in some quarters that the court stands very close on the case and desires re-argument for its own benefit; or that in view of the prime importance of the case to the interpretation of the Sherman law in new lights, a re-argument has been ordered in the hope of getting a unanimous decision. That was the situation in the Standard Oil litigation.

The Harvester ase, which is regarded as of first importance, particularly in view of its similarity to the Steel case, which the government recently lost in the lower courts, cannot now be decided before the fall and probably the winter months. A decision has anxiously been awaited in business and financial circles for months.

Attorney General Gregory is known to have expressed the view recently that the usefulness of the Sherman law in the future regulation of business depends largely upon the attitude of the Supreme Court in the Harvester case. Pending a decision, it was said tonight, the department of justice probably will not institute any important anti-trust cases.

The government policy in the Steel "trust" suit has been announced and Mr. Gregory, inconformity with his announcement will make the customary appeal from the decision of the lower courts.

WILLIAM H. RAND IS DEAD.

Head of House of Rand, McNally & Co. Passes Away.

New Canaan, Conn., June 21. — William H. Rand, for many years head of the printing and publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co., died last night at the home here of his daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Chappell. He had been ill for some time.

William H. Rand was born at Quincy, Mass., May 2, 1838, the twelfth child and seventh son of John Rand, a minister. He attended the local schools and in his early youth was employed in the printing offices of his brothers, Franklin and George, who later founded and conducted the firm of Rand, Avery & Co., in Boston.

In 1849 he joined the gold rush to California, making the voyage around Cape Horn. His labors at mining brought small success, and after about a year of them he returned to his trade as a printer and, in partnership with John A. Lewis, of Boston, a nephew by marriage, established the first newspaper in Southern California, the Los Angeles Star. The text was printed in both Spanish and English.

Returning to Boston, he established a printing business in that city, and in 1855 married Harriet Robinson, of Bath, Me. Mrs. Rand died in 1905.

In 1856 Mr. Rand moved to Chicago, and was thereafter closely identified with the business and growth of that city. He printed the Chicago Tribune, and was for years a part owner of that paper. Having sold his interest shortly after the Civil war, he founded with Andrew McNally, who had been his foreman, the printing and publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co.

In the great fire of 1871, the building and machinery of the firm were destroyed, but business was resumed on the day following in rented premises. Mr. Rand's health at this time became impaired and, being obliged to take a long rest from work, he went to Europe and lived abroad with his family for five years in Switzerland, Germany and France. Returning in the centennial year, he resumed active business, in which he continued until 1894. He then retired, and has since lived in his boyhood home at East Milton, Mass., passing his summers at Martha's Vineyard island.

MRS. LUCY LEWIS DEAD.

Widow of Late Dr. R. F. Lewis Passes Away at Lumberton.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 21.—Mrs. Lucy Lewis, aged 81 years, widow of the late Dr. R. F. Lewis, died this morning at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Lewis had been a resident of Lumberton for nearly 50 years and was unusually loved by a host of friends.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9:30 and the interment will be in Meadow Brook cemetery.

Washington, June 21.—The title of the United States to 5,000 acres of timber land in Clay county, North Carolina, contested by the Hiawassee Lumber Company, was upheld today by the Supreme Court. A lower court had held the government's claim invalid because of irregularities of registration.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.

STEALING ON EXAM. AT ACADEMY NOTHING NEW

According to Testimony Introduced at Hearing.

Irregularities Have Been Going on for at Least a Year, It Seems—Ensign Graham, Recent Graduate, Testifies.

Annapolis, Md., June 21.—Testimony tending to show that for at least a year naval academy examination papers and midshipmen's rating on examinations had been stolen, were given today before the court of inquiry investigating the "cribbing" scandal.

Ensign Ivan M. Graham, who recently graduated, related a conversation he had last week with Midshipman J. E. Waddell, who he said told him that he (Waddell) knew of lots of things "pulled off" by Ralph McK. Nelson, of New York, a "star" man of the first class, and one of the seven midshipmen recommended for dismissal by Superintendent Fullam.

Nelson, on one occasion, had asked Waddell, according to the story Graham said he was told, how to get in a window of the steam buildings, and secure ratings on examinations. At another time he said Nelson showed him advance examination ratings. Later Graham onferred with Ensign Richard R. Adams, the class president in regard to asking the guilty parties to resign. He said Adams took up the matter, but the accused men refused to resign.

reason of the generic character of the provision which would remain after the discrimination was stricken out."

This was said by way of answer to the argument of attorneys for the election officials that the Fifteenth amendment was meaningless because there was no such thing under the American form of government as a "right" to vote.

NORTH CAROLINA UNTOUCHED.

Decision Does Not Apply to Situation in This State, Says Butler.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., June 21.—North Carolina's election laws are not affected by today's decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which declared the "Grandfather Clause" of the Oklahoma and Maryland laws null and void, in the opinion of former Senator Marion Butler.

The former North Carolina senator, after reading today's opinion, declared that in view of the fact that the North Carolina law had stood for so long without being contested, and, the further fact that the law was only operative for eight years, there could not now be any question of its constitutionality.

Mr. Butler pointed out that, as the State law now stands, it applies to both races alike. The law was intended, he said, to establish a roll. That roll has now been established and operates upon equality to both races.

A great gathering of North Carolina negroes will assemble at Metropolitan A. M. E. church tomorrow night to celebrate "North Carolina night," according to an announcement given out by the colored orators. Every speaker on the program is to be a North Carolina negro.

The notice says all of the speakers on the program for the meeting of Bethel Literary and Historical Association tomorrow night are natives of North Carolina, the evening being "North Carolina Night." P. R. A.

Agitated Fifteen Years.

For more than 15 years the "Grandfather Clause" has been inserted in constitutions of Southern States. The most popular form has been to exempt from educational and property tests for voting those who could vote in 1866, 1867 or 1868, thus leaving the tests to apply to those who did not vote at those dates.

The Oklahoma grandfather clause provides "that no person shall be registered as an elector in this state, or be allowed to vote in any election herein, unless he be able to read and write any section of the constitution of the State of Oklahoma, but no person who was, on January 1, 1866, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under any form of government, or who at that time resided in some foreign nation, and no lineal descendant of such person, shall be denied the right to register and vote because of his inability to so read and write sections of such constitution."

In Maryland the clause was inserted in laws governing elections in various cities. In 1908, it was inserted in the law governing municipal elections in the city of Annapolis. It authorized the registration as voters of all taxpayers of the city assessed for at least $500; all duly naturalized citizens, all male children of naturalized citizens 21 years of age, and "all citizens, who prior to January 1, 1868, were entitled to vote in the State of Maryland or any other state of the United States at a state election, and the lawful male descendants of any person who prior to January 1, 1868, were entitled to vote in the State of Maryland or in any other state of the United States at a state election."

Various arguments were advanced to meet the attack that these clauses violated the Fifteenth amendment to the constitution providing that "the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied of abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

Another line of argument was that the clauses did not "deny" or "abridge" the right of negroes to vote, as forbidden by the fifteenth amendment, but it merely discriminated against them by allowing those not negroes to vote without meeting the qualifications imposed ostensibly upon all.

EVEN TRUSTIES ARE LOCKED IN THE CELLS

Prison Convicts Would Lynch Two of Their Fellows

Illinois Prison Authorities Having Trouble with Convicts Because of Murder of Warden's Wife —Negroes Suspected.

Joliet, Ill., June 21.—Fearing a repetition of the demonstration by 1,600 convicts against Joe Campbell and Walter Edwards, negro convicts suspected of slaying the wife of Edmund Allen, warden of the State penitentiary here, prison officials saw that each convict was locked in his cell tonight and special pains were taken to prevent any outbreak. Even the trusties were locked up for the first time in the history of the prison.

In spite of the watchfulness of the day guards, 1,300 convicts rose in the main dining hall at midday dinner and shouted threats against Campbell, then the only suspect. One hundred guards rushed the convicts and with clubs quieted the uproar.

Tonight there was suppressed excitement in the prison and old guards said the whisper had gone from cell to cell to punish the negroes whose alleged crime jeopardized the prison's honor system.

The coroner's inquest itno the death of Mrs. Allen, a former light opera singer, whose charred body was found yesterday after a fire had destroyed her bed in the room in the warden's apartment of the prison occupied most of the day and will be continued tomorrow.

Captain D. Clarkson, a guard, testified that Campbell, a house servant and Edwards, a trusty who served as the Allens' waiter had bought and exchanged clothes immediately after the fire. Michael Kane, a guard, testified he had come upon Campbell dressing in an ante room of Mrs. Allen's apartments soon after the body was found.

LEO FRANK BEGINS LIFE SENTENCE AT STATE PSISON FARM

before who mhe would shortly appear, calls to me from another world to request that I do that which he should have done. I can endure disconstruction, abuse and condemnation, but I cannot stand the constant companionship of an accusing conscience which would remind me in every thought that I, as Goveror of Georgia, failed to do what I thought to be right. There is a territory between a reasonable doubt and absolute certainty for which the law provides in allowing life imprisonment instead of execution. This case has been marked by doubt. The trial judge doubted, two judges of the State Supreme Court, two judges of the United States Supreme Court doubted. One of the three prison commissioners doubt.

"In my judgment, by granting a commutation in this case, I am sustaining the jury, the judge and the appellate tribunals and at the same time am discharging my duty which is placed on my by the state constitution.

The governor then appended he order commuting Frank's sentence from death to imprisonment fo rlife. The order bears the date of today.

Dorsey Issues Statement.

Solicitor General Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, issued a statement tonight in which he declared that "the action of Governor Slaton nullifying the judgments of the state and Federal courts and overriding the recommendations of the state board of pardons * * * * * was unprecedented."

He added that no defendant in his recollection had had the benefit of more appeals to both the State and Federal courts.

"I cannot find in the record o fthe Frank case, or in the governor's lengthy statement of attempted justification one reason why the Governor should interfere with the judgments of the courts in this case," said the solicitor.

SLATON BURNED IN EFFIGY.

By Small Crowd in Marietta, Phagan Girl's Former Home.

Marietta, Ga., June 21.—A life sized dummy, bearing the inscription, "John M. Slaton, Georgia's Traitor Governor," was burned in the public square here tonight by a small crowd of men. The effigy was hanged to a telegraph pole on the edge of the square today after news was received of the commutation of Leo M. Frank's death sentence.

The police made no attempt to interfere with the crowd when they cut down the dummy and set fire to it near the base of the monument to the late Senator Alexander S. Clay.

Mary Phagan, the victim of the pencil factory murder, formerly resided here.

PROTESTS HIS INNOCENCE.

Frank Felt Intuitively That His Sentence Would be Commuted.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 21.—At the Georgia prison farm, dressed in stripes denoting the lowest grade prisoner, Leo M. Frank today again protested his innocence of the murder of Mary Phagan and expressed a conviction that "the day is not far distant when I will be exonerated."

Frank said that he had no intimation of what was going to happen late last night when officers went to his cell to get him for the trip here. He left the cell six minutes after they alled. He expressed gratitude toward Governor Slaton, but said he felt intuitively that he would at least have his sentence commuted.

Frank will be known as Convict 965.

FACTORY AND ARMORY IN CANADA DYNAMITED

Attempt to Wreck These Will be Investigated.

Overall Factory Was Working on Filling War Orders—Germans Indignant at Insinuations as to Guilty Parties.

Windsor, Ont., June 20.—Word was received this afternoon from Lieut. Col. W. A. McCrimmon, acting assistant adjutant general, of London, Ont., that he will come here personally to conduct the investigation into the attempt early today to wreck the overall factory of the Peabody Company, Limited, of Walkerville, a suburb, and the local armory by dynamite. The attempt to destroy the overall factory, where war orders for clothing hav ebeen in process of completion, was partially successful, about $10,000 worth of damage being done. The dynamite beneath the armory, however, failed to explode.

The military and civil authorities claim to have detailed descriptions of two men who are alleged to have placed the suit case containing dynamite, with a time fuse, beneath the rear wall of the armory. It is generally believed the same men plotted to wreck the overall factory.

Detroit German-Americans take exception to the report that German sympathizers in that city were responsible for the affair.

"I do not believe that it was the work of any German sympathizer," declared Emil Rosinger, secretary of the Michigan Stadeverand.
